Ladies Auxiliary Presents Program Halloween Party

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles held its regular meeting and annual Halloween party at the IOOF hall Monday, October 27, with most of the members attending in masquerade. Prizes were won by Iona Lusk, first, who kept her identity a secret; second to Grace Anderson and third to Elsie DeYoung.

A short business meeting was held after which the following program was presented: a skit, "The Scarecrows," by Meda Downes, Helen Cochrane, Mildred Voss and Wilda King, accompanied by Jeanne Voss on the piano; a skit, "Halloween Husband," by LeVerna Pitcher, Evelyn Guggisberg, Ada Pitcher, Helen Kopperman and Wanda Bridwell; "The Ghost Story" by Wilda King; "The Passing of Mr. Smith," by Meda Downes; "The Art Gallery," displaying the art talents of the members, the drawing being done in the dark; a contest, "Halloween Superstitions."

Following the program refreshments were served by Jean Elving, Arna Elving, Calla Land and Grace Anderson.

There will be an officers' meeting and drill team practice at the IOOF hall on Friday, November 7, at 1 p.m. All members of the drill team are asked to be present without fail.

State Madam President, Mary Browns, will visit the auxiliary at the next meeting on November 10.

Table decorations are in charge of Annie Gates, Elsie DeYoung and Mae Tennes for the November 10 meeting. Hall decorations for the month of November and December will be in charge of Vera Mullen and Mable Crooks.

The Auxiliary will have a cooked food sale and bazaar on Friday and Saturday, November 14 and 15, at the Coast-to-Coast store. It is asked that bazaar items be turned in to the committee at the next meeting.

Many Hobbyists are Displaying Arts This Week in Local Store Windows

Many hidden talents are being brought to the front this week as American Art Week is being observed. This is the first time Cottage Grove and vicinity has participated in the annual event, and everyone seems to have cooperated in displaying his or her particular art in the various store windows. The displays include flowers by the two Garden clubs, paintings—oil, water color, pastel, finger and painting knife—wood carving, ceramics, weaving, handcraft, hand puppets and architecture.

The various types of art are being displayed by several schools in the area, the professionals and amateurs. It is worth a person's time to view these interesting displays of art.

Displays in Store Windows

Displays will be found in the following windows: Bressler's, ceramics; Penney's, water colors and ceramics; Norris Dress shop, oil paintings; Cottage Bakery, water colors; Kelly's Drugs, assortment of finger painting by Mt. View, Adams and Jefferson schools and hand puppets by schools; Petersen's, two garden clubs' flower arrangements and pastel and oil paintings; Western Auto, Mt. View and Harrison schools; Andrews & Hill, oil paintings; Cottage Grove Auto Supply, pastels; Pioneer Hardware, wood carving; Earl Wilson Real Estate, architecture; Nichols Radio, school exhibits, Adams school; Githens Motors, Loran school exhibit; Chamber of Commerce, woodwork and pictures by schools; Gas Co., paintings and Dorena school display.

Stokes Jewelers, oil painting; Army Surplus, oil painting and school pictures; Prager's Hardware, oil paintings; Cottage Grove Pharmacy, oil paintings; Coast-to-Coast, ceramics and Lynx Hollow school pictures; Chambers Outdoor Store, ceramics; Community Jewelers has decorated in honor of Art Week; Knickerbockers, pictures by Adams and Jefferson schools; Kem's Drugs, paintings done by painting knife and high school display; Webb's Hardware, handcraft and Smith Electric, handcraft.

Demonstrations at Githens

Several demonstrations are being held this week at Githens Motors. On Tuesday Madge Johnson demonstrated slip pouring in molds, and decorating, also overglaze painting on Monday; Wednesday hand loom weaving was done by Jessie Stockman; Thursday, oil paintings by Dorothy Wilson and Helen Tryk and Friday's demonstration will be on the potter's wheel by Carolyn Orum.

Each school is asked to pick up its display at Jefferson late Friday afternoon or Saturday morning.

Helen Tryk District Chairman

Helen Tryk is district chairman for Cottage Grove for American Art Week; Maude Walling Wanker of Wecoma Beach is state director and Berger Underdahl of Portland is general state chairman.

The purpose of American Art Week is to stimulate an interest to develop creative expressions within people through some medium of art. It is hoped and expected that another year will bring out a lot more hobbyists with their art work.

ARE PRAYERS ANSWERED?

"Heart!" the doctor told Uman Barns. "Flat on your back for six months; never work again."

Mr. Barns was 58, a printer, active socially and civically, reared two boys and a beautiful daughter. His home was a Mecca for children and friends; he looked forward to a life-sunset of enjoyment while doing things for his family. That picture was shattered.

As he lay in bed he had time to meditate and read. One of his books was "Are Prayers Answered?" As he read, prayers formed in his mind, not formal ones, but heart-to-heart talks with God about his boys, help them succeed and to give his daughter a baby girl.

60 days later, the doctor shook his head in wonder. "Go where it is quiet. Rest."

Mr. Barns obeyed, came to a little mountain town where loneliness was heart-breaking. Friends came. Strength surged through his body; planted a garden, cut oak wood, finished cement work, went back to work at his trade.

"It's unbelievable!" Mr. Barns exclaimed. "I'm well, strong, and happy. One son has the job he wanted, the other one is prospering in his business, and my daughter has a baby girl. Are prayers answered? I KNOW mine are."
