13 School Finalists to Compete 7th In 2nd Annual Sentinel Spelling Bee

Thirteen finalists from grade schools in the Cottage Grove area will compete for the "best speller" crown at the second annual Sentinel Spelling Bee Friday night, November 7. The contest will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room at Harrison school on South Tenth street.

The public is invited to watch the contest that will feature eight girls and five boys ranging from the fifth to the eighth grades. Contestants and judges are requested to be at Harrison by 7:15. A stationary microphone will aid contestants this year. Last year a roving microphone was believed to have been some handicap to spellers.

Judges for the finals will be Miss Jule Crume, English department head and journalism instructor at Cottage Grove high school; Mrs. Ada Taylor, Jefferson fifth grade teacher, and S. J. Bonkowski, principal at Culp Creek school. A standard dictionary will be on hand for the judges to refer to in case of a question about a word.

All spellers are urged to study the list appearing in last week's paper. This final list will be used on the 7th.

Cash prizes in the contest, donated by the Sentinel, will be $12.50 for the winner; $7.50 for the second place winner and $5 for the third. Wares Jewelers is donating a watch to the winner. Clark Photo Studio is giving a free picture like the ones appearing in the paper to each finalist.

The contest will be conducted by W. C. Martin and Joan Gallo of the Sentinel.

Following are the names of the finalists and their schools:

Beatrice Purcell, 8th grade, Saginaw.
Dorothy Kliese, 5th grade, Harrison.
Lynn Brightwell, 8th grade, Culp Creek.
Barbara Woodard, 8th grade, Latham.
Ann Chapman, 8th grade, Mt. View.
Robert Morgan, 7th grade, Silk Creek.
Joyce Johnson, 8th grade, Jefferson.
George Woodworth Jr., 8th grade, Blue Mt.
Marjorie Warwick, 8th grade, Creswell.
Rocke Warren, 7th grade, Dorena.
Albert Armitage, 8th grade, Lorane.
Deanna Gunn, 7th grade, London.
Margaret Cordin, 7th grade, Disston.

Three of the finalists, Ann Chapman, George Woodworth Jr. and Robert Morgan, also were in the contest last year, with Ann the runner-up. Joyce Carpenter of Latham school won the 1951 contest.

Only schools in the area not participating this year that entered finalists last year are Delight Valley, Curtin and Lynx Hollow.

ARMY'S "PEEPING TOM" SQUINTS, PIN-POINTS FOE

Radar—the Army's invisible detective which put its electronic finger on the moon—now is putting the finger on Communist troops in Korea.

More than six years ago, scientific history was made when the Army Signal Corps hit the moon with a beam to establish the first man-made contact with the celestial body.

Since then, the amazing electronic instrument has tackled new jobs with gratifying results.

Originally designed to detect approaching enemy aircraft, radar now is being used in Korea to penetrate the enemy's iron curtain. It is revealing enemy troop and vehicle movements and mortar and artillery locations, pinpointing them on that American artillery and aircraft can destroy them.

When flatterers meet the devil goes to dinner.—Daniel De Foe
