Roseburg Symphony To Present Concert Sunday at Drain

The Drain Study club feels fortunate to be able to bring to Drain the Roseburg Symphonic Orchestra which was organized three years ago by Wendell Johnson, who is still the conductor. Mr. Johnson is also the choral instructor at the Roseburg senior high. Too, Tom Hall, senior high band director, does his bit—has had several years of orchestral work; he plays first flute.

It is impossible to comment on all 40 of the outstanding musicians in the orchestra. Some of the Drain people know William Jelski, first oboe, a former member of the Portland Symphony. His wife, whose parental name was Leiken, is a former Drainite. Jeanne Thomas, oboe, who played with the Gustavus Symphonic Band, Minnesota, and the University of Oregon Band and Orchestra, is well known at Elkton and Drain.

The Drain Study club has planned this program of beautiful music to please you; everyone is urged to attend. The time is set at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 4, at the Drain high school auditorium so entire families can attend. The price is within the reach of all—60 cents for adults and 40 cents for students. The program consists of classical numbers, popular tunes, and even the Little German Band at intermission.

The Yoncalla Study club will attend this concert in a body as guests of the Drain Study club.
