

John Overholser, Son Of Author, Entertained Here By Family Picnic

By Mrs. Dale McCoy
SILK CREEK—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Overholser entertained with a picnic in the yard at their home on June 23, in honor of John Overholser of Boulder, Colo., who is visiting in Cottage Grove with his grandmother, Mrs. Eva Miller. Others enjoying the picnic besides the honor guest and the host and hostess were Mrs. Eva Miller of Cottage Grove and her grandchildren, Janet and Jimmy Boone of Portland, Miss Lavonna Overholser, Mr. and Mrs. George Overholser, Janet and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overholser and Ardis, Mr. and Mrs. Conley Overholser, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hooker and Terry of Gillespie Corners, Jerry Block of Eugene and Bill Duce of Redding, Calif.

John Wayne left Wednesday for Winchester Bay where he will spend the summer with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tollman. He plans to return to Boulder in the fall, where he will be a senior in the high school there.

We've used up some 20 billion household electric light bulbs since they first came on the market. Nearly 1,100,000,000 are sold each year.

John Wayne is the oldest son of Wayne D. Overholser, the author of many western books. One of his latest is "A Tough Hand."

Leaving Families Feted at Parties

By Mrs. Dale McCoy

SILK CREEK—Mrs. Edna Hathaway and Mrs. James Espy were pleasantly surprised Thursday afternoon when a group of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Ross Overholser for a farewell party in their honor. Mrs. Hathaway and children will soon be leaving for their new home near Battle Ground, Wash., and the Espy family is moving to the Walker community.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and playing a number of clever games. Mrs. Hathaway and Mrs. Espy were each presented with a nice gift from the neighbors' friendship club of which they are members.

A delicious luncheon was served to Mrs. Edna Hathaway, James Espy, George Overholser, Conley Overholser, R. E. Paynter, John Foster, George Gowling, Clarence Duncan, Frank Richardson, Bert Melvin, Guy Smith, Jim Morgan, Dale McCoy and the hostess Mrs. Ross Overholser. Children were Helen Hathaway, Patty, Jamie and Jimmy Espy, Janet Overholser, Theresa Foster, Wally and Lester Duncan, Kathy, Bobby and David Richardson, and Marie, Betty, Karen, Doris, Donna, Darlene and Lee Melvin.

That evening Mrs. Hathaway was again the honor guest when a group of ladies of the Seventh Day Adventist Church gathered at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Stanton Oberg on B. B. Rd. and presented her with many lovely gifts.

Edna Piller Installed As Rebekah Conductor

The Cottage Grove Rebekahs met the evening of June 23 for their last meeting until September 8 with 40 members present. Edna Piller was installed as conductor by District Deputy President Florence Walker with Alice Conner acting as District Deputy Marshal.

Mae Maloney was welcomed as a new member by transfer and Alice Phil by unexpired withdrawal card. Florence Houshelt and Evelyn Whaley were appointed by Noble Grand to audit the Theta Rho girls' books.

Refreshments were served by Ida Taylor, Goldie True and Evelyn Whaley. Those at the birthday table for April, May and June were Yvonne Prescott, Eleanor Puderbaugh, Alice Conner, Zula Hansen, Lucy Bennett, Marjorie Harrison, Mae Maloney, Hugh Truett, Ida Taylor and Goldie True. The birthday cake was made by Noble Grand Ida Taylor.

Life preservers are of little value unless they're readily accessible. Always have them handy—better yet, wear them, particularly when the weather gets rough.

REFLECTIONS

Peanuts and Men

"He's a grouch," they said. I thought so too until I met him socially; he was charm personified.

A man working on a lathe made several costly mistakes; he was to have been discharged. With a check ready his employer called him into his office. He came in, smiled wistfully, sat down and looked at his boss out of kindly eyes. Within a few minutes he had told his employer a story so full of love, pathos and drama that his employer tore up that check, arranged to have that father, and his critically ill son be placed under the best medical care available.

Some claimed, "He's pinch penny miser," or "Just plain poor." He is neither but the proud ideal of an orphan; he gives with a lavish hand to worthy youth no matter what their color or creed may be.

This brings me to the conclusion that men are like peanuts—rough outside, never conform to a pattern, but inside, they are smooth and round.
