In 50 Jubilee years Douglas fir plywood has become one of America's most useful building materials. Demand—more than doubled since 1945—is still rising. To help meet this boom, Standard has put one of petroleum's newest products to work. Last year we completed the West's most modern plant to produce Phenol from petroleum. Key to glues that make plywood split-proof, waterproof, Phenol once came only from the East, frequently became scarce. Now, plywood men have a nearby source; can save shipping time, costs. It's another way Standard serves you, the homes, farms, industries of a growing Pacific Northwest.

...and our Free Scenic Views capture the West's golden beauty. Now you can collect full-color pictures of the West's most beautiful scenes—absolutely FREE! Each 11 1/2 x 14 inch print is superbly lithographed, handsomely matted, ready to frame; has descriptive story, photo data.
