Reflections . . .

4th of July

America! Vikings sailed over uncharted seas to reach our shore, returned and told unbelievable tales of lush new country. Columbus was fired by those tales, convinced his Queen that he could reach this land of riches. Our forebears braved mountains, waves, tiny ships to reach this land of untold wealth, then fought and died that we could claim a United States of America. You and I have a heritage that makes a fabulous history.

One hundred and seventy-nine years ago a document was signed creating a Nation out of wilderness; its bedrock was Love of Freedom. That Love of Freedom has led us to the wealth we know today. To keep that wealth we must do more than wave a flag, listen to speeches; we must gather together every ounce of our physical strength, give expression to our emotions, rededicate ourselves to the ideals of those men who gave us the richest heritage on earth—The United States of America. It is ours to cherish, enjoy, mold to future greatness and to defend with all the power in our beings.
