Reflections . . .

Laugh About It

We have been given the ability to worry and the faculty to laugh, shrug off cares as we would a spot of dust from our clothes.

Just how important is this laugh-faculty? Abe Lincoln won many of his Court cases with humor; Reader's Digest has millions of readers, 90% read the jokes first; Wall Street Journal breaks serious material with humor; ministers, who draw the biggest audiences, use humor to illustrate a point; the orator who gets the biggest hand spikes his discourse with clean humor. To laugh about any problem is to shake off worry, tumble it around in rippling mirth; it comes out smiles.

Laugh about it! Get a grin on your face! Laugh at yourself, see the funny side and you'll be astonished how quickly worry will vanish. Worry is debilitating; laughing is invigorating.
