Mt. Viewers Boat Overturns

By Mrs. Walter N. Downes
Phone 33F11

MOUNT VIEW—Tom Partney and Chet Hamner experienced a near tragedy when they went deep sea fishing at Winchester Bay. They were over the bar when the fog came in very heavy. They started for shore, but their boat swamped and they had to swim. Everything in the boat was lost, but the Coast Guard saved the boat and motor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Downes spent several days last week in Portland on business and visiting relatives.

Donald Annand of Bremerton, Wash., visited here Tuesday with his grandmother, Mrs. George Layng, on his way home from Bakersfield, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Chapman and family and Merlene Peterson returned home Tuesday after several weeks' vacation at Yellowstone national park and other points of interest.

Merry Cooks Meet

The Merry Cooks 4-H club entertained their mothers on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Larry Chapman. Members baked the cookies and served punch.

A short program was given including an accordion solo by Mary Beth Tate; a pantomime by Jeanne Chapman; baton twirling by Mickie Hamner; a recitation by Carol Owens and a song by Jeanne Chapman and Patty Williams accompanied on the piano by Ann Chapman.

Members were given instruction on exhibiting at the 4-H club fair in Eugene August 14-16. Exhibits are to be taken in on August 13.

Footing the Bill for Careless Drivers?

If you're a "Careful Driver" but are not insured with State Farm, you may be paying for careless drivers' accidents. State Farm aims to insure only "careful drivers" who have fewer accidents and fewer claims. This lowers insurance costs... and the savings are passed on to you. It pays to know your STATE FARM Agent.

OSC Students Urged to Hurry Housing Plans

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—Students planning to attend Oregon State college this fall who have not yet made housing arrangements are urged to do so as soon as possible by college officials.

All college-owned campus housing is already taken for the coming year, according to E. B. Lemon, dean of administration. This includes dormitories for men and women, college married student units, and cooperative houses where students share housekeeping duties.

No more applications will be accepted for these, Lemon said. This means, he explained, that students who have not made reservations in college units must make arrangements to live in rooms or apartments in private homes, rooming houses, and apartment houses in and around Corvallis.

The college housing office will help students find available community housing but students themselves must make final arrangements with the homeowner or landlord.

Women students who need help with housing should check with the dean of women's office when they come to Corvallis, Lemon said. Men students and married students should contact the housing office maintained by the dean of men's office. Both offices are in the commerce building.

To help meet increasing numbers of students expected this fall, the college has added 114 places for men in its dormitories by remodeling and adding bunks to various rooms. Eighty additional spaces for women have been made available by establishment of a new coed cooperative house and by adding an extra bed to 40 rooms in one of the dormitories. These expansions, however, bring the dormitories up to ultimate capacity.

Two new dormitories for men are now under construction but will not be ready until the fall of 1957.
