Beginning Today

and continuing for ten selling days, to and including August 7, we offer our 1918's greatest values in Summer Merchandise. Be here every day and watch the windows and inside the store for new daily offerings—they're marked with show cards bearing a calendar design.

A Safe Place to Buy

Appearances often deceive because looks often deceive. It is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up. And that is why the meaning of the words "high-priced" is often misconstrued.

This store never was and never will be a so-called "high-priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality. What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent.

Quality for quality and price for price, the selling figures here stand for the uplift of public confidence and the maintenance of permanent trade. We would rather lose a customer than to lose our self-respect through "cheap" prices for "cheap" goods.

SUMMER DRESSES in a JULY SALE

There's months of service ahead for every one of these smart, practical dresses. Even some models, fabrics, colors that have been unusually hard to get are included. Here are remarkable values—plenty of them.

CHILDREN'S DRESSES REDUCED

STYLES FOR PLAY, SCHOOL OR BEST WEAR

All mothers of girls will be interested in this announcement, for it goes a long way toward solving the problem of providing suitable clothes for the children. We've reduced the prices on children's dresses to a point that makes it economy to purchase them ready to put on. Neat and attractive styles in gingham, tastefully trimmed. A personal inspection of these splendid values is urged.

The calendar is your bargain guide. Every working day between today, Friday, July 26, and Wednesday, August 7, will be a saving day for you here. A generous share of bargains will be offered from day to day in several departments so that every day you come to the store new saving opportunities will greet you. Watch for the display cards with calendar designs—they'll show you where the feature bargains are.

July Sales prices are, in many instances, lower than we expect to pay wholesale for goods of equal quality in the fall. Yet in spite of high costs and the shortage of good goods, we must clear out incomplete assortments, odds and ends and remnants of all spring and summer goods to make room for fall stocks. We rely upon such low prices as these to accomplish our purpose. You're not likely to see such values again for a long time.
