missioned officers with duties pertaining to some part of this interesting service. There are gun commanders, observers, master gunners, engineers, electricians, radio sergeants, and various other duties open to the man who is alert and eager. ### RED CROSS NOTES

Mrs. F. J. Helliwell has again donated her services for the remodeling of hats and will be at Red Cross headquarters Tuesdays and Thursdays. Bring your old hats and trimmings.

Lane county's quota of old clothing for the Belgians is five tons, and it has not yet been secured. We are still accepting contributions.

The linen shower was a success. The result is published elsewhere in this issue.

Notice will be promptly given when the cartons for soldiers' Christmas presents arrive.

The sewing department is working on women's and boys' refugee garments, and the surgical dressings department has completed its quota of split-irrigation pads.

CLASSIFIED MEN MAY VOLUNTEER FOR THE HEAVY ARTILLERY

Any registered and classified man can now be immediately inducted voluntarily for service overseas in heavy field artillery—big mobile guns, howitzers, railway artillery, and other of the "heavies" that are becoming more and more important.

The movement overseas of these regiments is being unusually expedited by the war department and men are given a chance to volunteer for this attractive branch of the service. The coast defenses of the Columbia are called upon to send heavy artillerymen with the utmost speed.

No branch offers more of a variety of opportunities for advancement or more fascinating work. Men showing the proper aptitude are made non-com-signed to prepare for teaching the various subjects offered through the high school curricula. The teaching practice that is given to the seniors under the direction of this department is given in the high school. No provision is made for instruction in elementary and grammar school methods. The preparation of teachers for all grades below the high school is the distinctive work of the normal schools, and in my judgment should be left under their control.

"The experience of practically all of the states of the union seems clearly to indicate that the organization by which the training of high school teachers is assumed by the university and the training of elementary and grammar school teachers is assumed by the normal schools, is the most effective one. Since all teachers in the public schools should be required to have training, and since the number runs into the thousands, it has been found that several well organized normal schools in each state constitute the only practicable means of supplying the demand. These schools also have the advantage of bringing the training course home to the student, and of serving as valuable educational centers to the sections where they are located.

"I sincerely hope that the measure pending on the ballot to provide Oregon with two additional normal schools may carry on November 5 by a large majority of the electorate of the state."

GOVERNMENT REQUESTS MORE WINTER WHEAT.

The U. S. department of agriculture has issued a call for a large acreage of winter wheat for the coming year as a part of the national production campaign. The last two years' low yields of wheat have been used up and a large acreage is necessary so that a reserve can be created.

The secretary of agriculture states that it is highly desirable that the winter wheat acreage over the country be increased 12 per cent and that steps be taken by each county immediately to insure the planting of this acreage. The will make that old suit look like new. Picked up any time, cleaned Fridays and pressed Saturdays and Mondays.

The COTTAGE GROVE LAUNDRY

farmers of the state of Oregon are being asked to increase their winter wheat acreage 23 per cent. Lane county farmers are requested by government representatives to increase the acreage at least 10 per cent if possible. This means an increase in winter wheat of over 1200 acres for the county.

The increase in winter wheat acreage is asked as one of the most important lines of defense work in the war program. The price for 1918 has again been assured for 1919. A large acreage of wheat means that a surplus can be taken by the state next year. On the better soils that are drained, the yields of winter wheat outyield the spring wheat, according to 5-year averages of the experiment station. When this fact is considered, farmers can afford to cooperate in the government's food campaign which is essential to a successful prosecution of the war for the coming year.

We expect our friends to comment upon the good points about us while we are commenting upon the bad points about them.
