BOOSTS FOR O. A. C. JUNIOR WEEK END

Mrs. Clara Burkholder writes from Corvallis: "Please give our junior week-end a boost, as there are Cottage Grove seniors who should be here next year. Wonderful opportunities here for all students." The dates are May 1, 2 and 3, and the program will include an interscholastic and intercollegiate track carnival. Commencing upon the week-end and its purpose, The Baronetter, the college paper, says: "The week-end which is coming is being planned by the juniors in the college and is being instituted as an annual event for the people from all over the state to meet. It is in line with the extension work in physical education, community development, and demonstration work. High school students, alumni of O. A. C., and visitors will profit by coming here at that time if they can. You students and especially seniors in high school, think over your plans for next year and decide upon a college education."

Helmets for Largest Subscribers.

The largest subscriber to the Victory loan in each town in Oregon will receive a German helmet as a special award. During the flight of the airplanes at Portland Monday, literature bombs were dropped over the city in imitation of methods used by American fighters in disseminating information to the soldiers in the enemy trenches. Fifty of the bombs contained letters that entitled the finders to helmets.

The helmets are from the supply Germany intended hun troops to wear upon marching into Paris. Americans at Chateau Thierry stopped the advance and captured the helmets.
