

Does Your Horse Kick on His Feed?
A POORLY FED HORSE

reflects discredit on its owner, but the owner gets the worst of the deal because economy in feeding the horse affects its working capacity as well as its appearance. If your horse kicks on his feed you can correct it by buying your feed here, as you get the best quality for the least outlay. Farmers, contractors and horse owners generally know that our feed is always up to the standard.

TO PAVE RIVER ROAD SOON IS PLAN OF COMMISSION

That the Eugene-Junction City stretch of the Pacific highway will be paved in the near future is indicated by the fact that Assistant State Highway Engineers Clark and Libby are now at work making a complete survey of this road so that figures may be had upon which construction bids may be based so that the advertisements for the bids may be started.

Very little information as to the time of paving this piece of highway has been obtained lately and many were beginning to wonder if it were to be done at all this summer. This stretch was at first selected as a site for the 15 miles of experimental pavement of three kinds as provided for in a bill passed by the legislature and introduced by Representative L. E. Bean, of Lane county, but later, owing to the fact that this highway has such a good foundation for the regular highway pavement, it was deemed inexpedient to destroy it.

The River road, as this piece of highway is called, is one of the best macadam roads in the state, the county court taking especial pride in maintaining it to a high standard.

Foreign-language papers printed in the United States may be barred from the public libraries of Portland, if the book committee of the library association reports favorably on a suggestion which W. F. Woodward made at the monthly meeting of the directors.

After the most vigorous fight ever known in the history of the Mystic Shrine of North America, the imperial council in session at Indianapolis, by a vote of 359 to 142, decided on holding the 46th imperial council session in Portland, Or., June 8 to 11, 1920.

The Portland extension division of the University of Oregon will open its summer school June 23 and continue until August 1. Courses will be given in ethics, drawing, music, biology, physics, public speaking, education, literature, French, Spanish and psychology.

President Kerr of Oregon agricultural college was the orator at the flag day exercises at the McMinnville auditorium under the auspices of McMinnville lodge of Elks, following a parade, in which the Elks, Oddfellows and other organizations participated.

The application of the public service commission for a reduced rate on the transportation of the Oregon fish car, has been declined by the federal railroad administration on the ground that such preference is not justified and could not be acceptably explained under centralized control.

Miss Fern Hobbs, formerly secretary to Governor Oswald West, has been appointed chief of the home communication section of the American Red Cross in France, according to the Red Cross bulletin of Paris under date of May 17. Miss Hobbs entered the Red Cross service last summer.

William Rumley, colored, 89 years old, who is the oldest settler in Curry county, has proved up on a homestead far up the Rogue river. Rumley was born in slavery and came west with his eleventh master in the gold rush of '49 in California. He later came to Oregon and settled in Curry county in 1867.

Further difficulties encountered by the Phez company in procuring loganberries enough for his various fruit juice products are disclosed in a new suit filed at Salem against the Salem Fruit union, in which the plaintiff company seeks to restrain the fruit union from disposing of its loganberry pool to any others than the plaintiff.

Marshfield, North Bend, East Side, Coquille and Myrtle Point face a condition which may result in suspension of electric power and light, if the intention of the receivers of the C. A. Smith property to withdraw permission to the Oregon Power company to operate the electric plant at the main Marshfield mill is allowed to be carried out.

Courses of study for public schools and high schools of Oregon will not be ready for distribution until late in August, according to announcement by J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction. The change in textbooks for the coming six years necessitates a delay by the educational department in mapping out the courses of study for the fall term.

No material change in the cost of living is to be found in a comparison of the figures submitted on provisions for the state institutions in bids opened by the state board of control, as compared with the figures of six months ago. While some items show material reductions in price in the six months period, other items offset this gain by just as material increases.

Gene Simpson, who has been raising pheasants for years and whose pheasant farm recently was acquired by the state, has been placed in charge of pheasant production by the state game and fish commission. The commission decided to close the pheasant season on October 13 this year as a means of protecting the birds and to purchase as many pheasants as possible, releasing them after the season closes. The commission's farm at Corvallis will have 3300 birds this year.

At the close of the fourteenth business session in Portland, C. S. Hudson, president of the First National bank of Bend, was elected president of the Oregon State Bankers' association for the ensuing year. The association voted approval of a proposition under which the banks are to assess themselves one-twenty-fifth of 1 per cent of capital and surplus to create a fund for organized effort directed by the association toward encouragement of the breeding of high-grade stock and increased output of crops.

Of the 4534 automobiles registered with the secretary of state's office during May, 3317 were new cars, according to a report just compiled. With a total of 69,693 cars registered up to June 1 it is expected that the total registrations for 1919 will reach and even exceed the estimate of 80,000 which has formed the basis for figures in connection with anticipated revenues from this source for use in improving and maintaining state highways in Oregon. Revenues from license fees—motor vehicle, motorcycle, dealer and chauffeur—received during May totaled $37,290, bringing the total for this year thus far to $516,235.50, an increase of more than 25 per cent over the showing of $403,677.50 for the same period a year ago.
