DEADLOCK IN SENATE MAY YET BE BROKEN

Suggestions Made and Accepted Believed to Promise Eventual Agreement.

Washington.—Efforts to break the senate peace treaty deadlock and keep the treaty out of the political campaign were advanced a step when republican senators advocating ratification drew up a counter proposal to the set of compromise reservations submitted to them by a group of democrats.

The republican proposal, to which its sponsors said Senator Lodge had given tentative assent, was understood to deal only with some of the collateral issues in the reservation controversy, leaving to future negotiations the troublesome questions of article 10, and equality of voting power in the league of nations.

Some of the democratic suggestions were said to have been accepted, including a change in the republican reservation program of last session, so that the senate qualifications would not have to be accepted affirmatively by the other powers. Agreement on these changes, however, was understood to be conditional on certain concessions by democrats in regard to other reservations.

The speech of Mr. Bryan at the Jackson day banquet, which, in addition to opposing any effort to carry the treaty into the campaign, advocated the speedy compromise, was put into the senate record by Senator McCormick, republican, of Illinois, after the president's letter accepting his stand had been presented by Senator Hitchcock. Senator McCormick requested that the two "be printed in juxtaposition in view of reports that they are agreed on the treaty."
