POOR CITIZENS.

Education is not confined entirely to what a student gets out of school books. With education there is supposed to go a certain amount of refinement. Many who have crammed their heads until Greek verbs protrude from their ears have not some essentials of education which should be learned in the primary department.

At the glee club concert Monday evening it was necessary for the superintendent of schools to ask some of the young folks in the back of the room to desist from conversation while the numbers were being given.

If those who were doing the talking were members of the schools, they probably would object seriously to having taken from them the right to secure an education at the expense of the taxpayers. They consider that a constitutional right, but the taxpayers who put up the money which gives them that education have the same constitutional right to be undisturbed in the enjoyment of a public program of any kind.

Those students who have so little consideration for the rights of others that they will carry on a conversation during a musical program deserve to have taken from them the right to a free education. It is an imposition upon the taxpayer to ask him to pay for the education of young people who do not early in their school life learn to show due respect to the rights of others, particularly to the rights of those who are paying for that education given them free of charge.

If any grownups were responsible for the noise, as the superintendent intimated might be the case when he asked for quiet during the program, they are even more to be criticized than the young people, for they have come to years when they are supposed to set an example to younger people. They deserve to be deprived of the right of attending a program given by the students of one of our institutions of higher learning. Not only that, but, if grownups, they were showing a woeful lack of an appreciation of the value of money, for evidently they had spent their money for something that was worthless to them. No other construction can be put upon the actions of grownups who would carry on a conversation during a public entertainment of that kind.

Those who willfully disturb the enjoyment by others of a public program are both ill-bred and poor citizens. The Sentinel does not know whom this may hit, and it does not care. Those whom the shoe fits are cordially invited to put it on.

ROAD BONDS.

There is no room for doubt that the Cottage Grove country as a whole is opposed to several features of the proposed issue of two million dollars in road bonds. There is dissatisfaction with the manner of the distribution; there is dissatisfaction with the fact that bond money is to be used for maintenance and there is dissatisfaction with the amount of interest that will be paid before the bonds are taken up.

At the same time the question is being asked whether or not, despite the disliked features, despite the high cost of road construction at the present time, despite the terrific extravagance that usually accompanies the use of bond money for any purpose, we are warranted in voting down this means of providing roads that may mean so many million dollars in the development of the county.

The issue will be discussed at a meeting of the Cottage Grove grange to be held Saturday afternoon, April 17. Every citizen owes it to himself to so inform himself that he can vote intelligently at the proper time and those who take an interest in the welfare of their county should be present, either to be informed or to instruct, or both. The attitude which the Cottage Grove country will take towards the road bonds might easily be settled at this meeting.

ARE YOU A LIVE ONE?

No one single piece of advertising brought Cottage Grove more to the front as a live town, or got it into the newspapers oftener last summer, than its pennant-winning baseball club.

An effort now is being made to revive the club for the coming season and the first move is to provide a pennant winning club with uniforms that will make it look like a real ball team. The next move probably will be to ask regular monthly support from the business houses of the city.

We certainly want the ball club. We are not entitled to one unless we are willing to give it our support, both morally and financially. Just how you take advantage of the opportunities which will be presented to give your support will show whether or not you are a live one.

A New York medico, who probably has tried them all ways, is authority for the statement that kisses in the morning are more unsanitary than at night, after the sunshine has had an opportunity to sweeten the lips. Only the brave deserve the fair, and the man who refuses a morning kiss for fear of the danger may be put down as a coward unworthy the love of any girl worth having. We'll take ours stewed, fried, boiled, uncooked, sterilized or unsterilized.

Editor W. H. Weatherston has been appointed postmaster at Florence. If anyone deserved the position, certainly Editor Weatherston did and a newspaper man may be expected to show the postoffice department just how a postoffice should be run. We congratulate both Editor Weatherston and the administration, which latter seems at last, probably entirely by accident, to have picked a competent man for a responsible job.

The Roseburg papers could no longer stand the increasing cost of producing newspapers and the two have consolidated under the name of the Roseburg News-Review. Both publishers remain in the business and we are wondering how they are going to harmonize their conflicting political views.

State Superintendent Churchill has been asked to furnish the photographs of the most beautiful women of Oregon. This includes 'em all.

THINGS WE THINK

Things Others Think and What We Think of the Things Others Think

The biggest fool is the one who knows it all.

When you want honest advice, do not go to a partisan.

Rockefeller doesn't reply to his critics. Silence is golden.

The family tree of some people must be all gnarls and knots.

The man with an unlimited amount of courage is hard to discourage.

Rheumatism may make a person stiff but it does not give him dignity.

A student of human nature never reaches the post graduate course.

There is usually a way of getting a man to do what you want him to.

A man's enemies keep him on his guard—his friends throw him off.

It beats all where some men get the face to wear the whiskers they do.

Many things that you consider hard luck would be good luck to others.

Some men's idea of being a leading politician is to head the bandwagon.

You can't prick a man's conscience if it isn't big enough to make a hole in it.

Yesterday is gone, today is yours, tomorrow you may not be here. Get busy.

A pessimist is a person who believes divorce to be the happiest part of married life.

The man who doesn't trust too much to Providence is usually Providence's favorite.

The foot that rocks the cradle isn't the same one that is kicking for woman's rights.

Only a fool never changes his mind—and the supply of wise men is not overly large.

With no evidence to the contrary, we suppose rotten politicians are made of spoiled boys.

It is better to grumble about your wife than at her, although both are utterly useless.

The government is telling of the new design for its $10,000 bills. What was the old design?

If there were no women man would never get here—and wouldn't care to stay very long.

There is no good reason why a small man shouldn't fill a big place in the world's affairs.

The man contemplating suicide is usually the first to throw up his hands in the face of danger.

It's a wonder to the men folks how easily a sweet, dainty, refined little girl is sometimes satisfied.

There's never a cloud without a silver lining—but there isn't always a cloud with the silver lining.

The appearance of a girl immediately after getting her beauty sleep leads a man to think he's needed it.

Every man has a secret hope that he will be found out doing a good deed which he is trying to keep quiet.

There may possibly be lawyers in heaven. A lot of us are prepared to be somewhat disappointed when we get there.

Women shouldn't expect to get tall husbands as long as they keep their sweethearts short buying flowers and candy.

All women are dreams, but some are the kind that make you feel, when you wake up, as if you had been kicked by a mule.

When a man thanks you for calling attention to a mistake he has made, you can safely set him down as a blasted liar.

When woman suffrage becomes general it will be necessary to give a "special" on election day to get the full vote out.

A man who enjoys having the women flirt with him does not care to have his wife give other men the same kind of enjoyment.

Second wives probably sometimes think what nice boys and girls her stepchildren would be if she had been the first wife.

There is an appalling number of people who can't talk at all, but they are more than offset by the number who talk too much.

It doesn't seem right, but it's almost impossible for a man to serve his country and his family at the same time. One or the other must suffer.

How many married people know just what they promised to do when they got married? We refrain from asking how many are keeping those promises.

If our rich relatives had confined their efforts to hoping a rich relative would die and leave them something, they would never have accumulated anything to leave us.

There is not half the pleasure to be derived from consorting with royalty and blue bloods as in a romp with your own little tots—and in the latter case you need not fear being looked down upon.

There's hardly anything a Sentinel wanted won't do, but if one doesn't do it, try two.

CHANDLER SIX

Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Two Great Chandlers Right Out In Front

HERE are two Chandler Six models which the big and constantly expanding Chandler factory production has never been able to build in volume that could supply the demand of discriminating motor car purchasers. They are the Chandler Six Touring Car and Dispatch Car, the former a big, handsome, roomy, comfortable, real seven-passenger car; and the latter a trim, smaller car, suggestive in its appearance of all the good things of outdoor life. The Dispatch Car has a touch of snappy style in its clean lines, and is strikingly finished in the beautiful Chandler Rainbow Blue. It seats four persons in restful comfort.

Both the Chandler Six Touring and Dispatch Cars are mounted on the same standard Chandler chassis, developed, through seven years of manufacture, to a surpassing point of excellence and famous for its really marvelous motor. The Chandler Car is priced much lower than other cars which may, perhaps, compare with it.

"STERLING" COMPOUNDED FEEDS

It is an undisputed fact that honestly and accurately compounded feeds give better results than any straight grain feed. When we started in this business we were thoroughly convinced that the public cares as much for quality as for price. Believing this, our motto has been "A Higher Feed Value—For Less Money." And because we have constantly kept this in mind, "Sterling" Compounded Feeds are recognized as being all the name implies.

Our specialties are horse feed, hog feed, and dairy feed, for which we make the claim "There are none better."

Call and see us, and by comparing our prices with those of other compounded feeds, you will find opportunities and bargains here that you can't find anywhere else.
