The Marion county court went on record favoring an appropriation of $10,000 to aid in construction of a community house for the American Legion, as authorized by the last legislature.

Boys and girls between the ages of 16 and 18, who are employed and who have not finished the eighth grade, must attend part-time school in Oregon City, according to an order issued by the school board.

Marion county through the county court, has offered to contribute $25,000 to the construction of the proposed new Salem hospital on condition that the remainder of the necessary $100,000 is made available.

The inventory and appraisement of the estate of Dr. Bernard Daly of Lakeview, who died recently, shows a total value of $733,628.57, more than $500,000 of which is in government, municipal, school, county and road bonds.

By a vote of 217 to 30 the city of Seaside has bonded itself for $263,000 for the construction of a pier into the Pacific ocean, a system of bulkheads on the ocean front and a new hard-surface driveway through the entire city.

The recent threat of labor to petition state officials to oust from their employment all married women whose husbands are capable of providing for their support, appears to have stimulated rather than deterred marriages of girls on the state payroll.

The students of Baker high school have purchased a new, high-class motion-picture machine and have booked a long series of excellent film productions, which will be projected upon the screen in the high school auditorium one evening in every week.

Robbers broke into the vault of the Scio State bank at Scio and escaped with an unknown quantity of Liberty bonds, War Savings Stamps and some cash secured from rifling the contents of boxes, which may total as high as $50,000. No attempt was made to open the main safe.

A questionnaire is being sent to all the high school principals in the state by Dr. John Landsbury, dean of the school of music of the State University, in an attempt to gain their cooperation in making high school credits in music worthy of being rated as university entrance credits.

With national leaders present, and a great majority of the Baptist minister of the state in attendance, Baptist leaders met at the White Temple in Portland to formulate plans for the nation-wide campaign for $100,000,000. Oregon's apportionment of this fund will be $1,450,000, it was announced.

Because Oregon and California face an unprecedented shortage of water for either hydroelectric power or irrigation purposes, the Geary Investment corporation of Oregon, and the California-Oregon Power company, a California corporation, will bury the hatchet this year and allow water storage in the Upper Klamath lake.

Approximately 400 acres of worthless swamp land in Douglas county will be made worth between $300 and $400 per acre by the new drainage project outlined by Professor C. F. Johnson, drainage expert of the Oregon Agricultural college, and County Agent C. J. Hurd. The lands are situated in the Looking Glass and Yoncalla valleys.

According to reports announced by the city health bureau there are 11 cases of sleeping sickness in Portland at present. Deaths from the disease to date total eight, of which six were reported in December, one in January and one in February. Sleeping sickness is comparatively new here, and no record of cases was kept prior to last December.

Receipts of the automobile department for February, 1920, as shown by a report issued by the secretary of state were $200,856, as against $38,796.50 for the same month in 1919. The large increase is due, according to Sam A. Kozor, in charge of the motor vehicle department, to the new law, which increased the license fees for all classes of motor vehicles.

Eight democrats and five republicans have filed formal declaration of their candidacy for delegates to their respective party conventions. Fully a score of republicans have been mentioned as possible candidates or have expressed a desire to be delegates, but they have not taken the trouble to file with the secretary of state. Half a dozen democrats are preparing to file.

Under the market road act there will be available about $2,000,000 during this and succeeding years for the development of strictly market roads in the various counties. Through the action of this law the state will eventually be webbed to the most remote sections by feeder roads. The law was enacted in 1919, with some amendments at the special session in 1920, and it will be placed in operation this year. Because of the importance of laying a suitable groundwork for future development of the market road system, the state highway commission has for months been working out a policy for applying the enactment. The result of this exhaustive research and investigation has been embodied in a set of regulations which has just been issued by the commission.
