

ARCADE THEATER WEEKLY PROGRAM

Fri., June 11—"Peck's Bad Girl," by Mabel Normand. A good comedy drama.
Comedy, "Shadows Pest."

Sat., June 12—"Secret Service," by Robert Warwick. This is a Civil war story based on the play by William Gillette dealing with a Union spy who nearly caused the capture of the Confederate army.

Sun., June 13—"Rustling a Bride," by Lila Lee.
"For Bitter Vor Vorse,"—Mutt and Jeff.
Pathe Review, motion pictures in colors.

Mon., June 14—"Smashing Barriers," William Duncan. See how Bella was rescued from the lake after falling over the cliff.

"Jungle Gentlemen," a monkey comedy.
"Jay Bird," a two-reel comedy.

Tues., June 15—"Road to Divorce," by Mary MacJaren.

Wed., June 16—"Love Burglar," by Wallie Reid. Absorbing, inexplicable, thrilling, romantic—that's the "Love Burglar."

"Shells and Shivers," comedy.

Thurs., June 17—"Broken Blossoms," by D. W. Griffith. It is said this is the biggest production of the year. It will interest you and hold you spell bound every minute, but from a different angle than you expect. It is a picture depicting brutal life in the under-world in the city of London. It is impossible to imagine how much brutality can be shown on the screen until after you have seen the picture.

The management wishes to announce there will be a corking good comedy shown at the end of this picture to raise your spirits before going home.

HOPE FIESTER IS ENOUGH ALIVE TO EMPHATICALLY DENY STORY OF DEATH

Hope Fiester says that never again will he open a letter addressed to his wife. He opened one yesterday from a cousin living in Washington, D. C., and in the letter the cousin inquired for particulars concerning Mr. Fiester's death, the date, cause and whether or not there was any particular reason for his unusual action. The cousin said that upon a recent visit to the old home in Pennsylvania she had met Mrs. Julia Wilson, of McMinville, Ore., who said that she had read in a Portland paper an account of Mr. Fiester's death.

Mrs. Fiester is visiting in Grants Pass, which is the reason that Mr. Fiester opened the letter addressed to her.

A little pineapple added to fruit compotes, jellies, jams and preserves, gives a delicious flavor.

Tricolette actually is used for hand bags.

Before hanging out clothes rinse your hands in a solution of cold water and vinegar and you will not be troubled with rough or chapped hands.

A pinch of baking powder added to the water when washing a fowl improves the flavor and makes it more tender.

Put pulverized pure borax in the water in which colored linens are washed and rinsed.

Starch a piece of lace and put under a hole in a lace curtain. Press with a warm iron.

Sherbets are water and fruit juice or milk and fruit juice frozen.

Corn baked with cut green peppers in it is an agreeable change.

Add hot milk to potatoes when mashing. This preventsogginess.

To save sugar dissolve it in hot water before adding to any beverage.

Eggs taken in a lunch should be wrapped in oil paper.

If sewing machine oil has accidentally gotten on a silk garment to remove it, place a new blotter under and over the oil spot, place a moderately hot iron on top and leave it there. The oil will be drawn out into the blotter.

To remove searh quickly, dampen a white cloth with peroxide, using a piece large enough to cover the scorched place. Lay it on and iron until dry. Repeat the operation if necessary.
