OREGON NEWS NOTES OF GENERAL INTEREST

Principal Events of the Week Briefly Sketched for Information of Our Readers.

The fifteenth annual convention of the Oregon Bankers' association convened at Eugene Tuesday.

The $60,000 gravity water project undertaken by Monmouth nearly a year ago has been completed.

While fishing on a dock at Newport, Ivy Howard caught an octopus which measured about six feet in diameter.

Charles A. Barr, resident of Marion county since 1879, died at his home five miles south of Salem. He was 69 years of age.

A picnic for all residents of Marion county is being planned by the Marion County Community federation and will be held sometime in July.

The Roseburg cherry crop is ripening rapidly. Earlier varieties will be plentiful, it is believed, and the late fruit promises heavy yields.

The Linn county farm bureau has decided to arrange a series of poultry culling demonstrations in Linn county during August and September.

Former Salemites from all sections of Oregon and the Pacific northwest assembled at Salem Saturday for the annual homecoming ceremonies.

Eugene and Springfield have joined forces for a Fourth of July celebration. Springfield will celebrate Saturday, July 3, and Eugene Monday, July 5.

Aurora's new artesian well is now flowing at the rate of nearly 40,000 gallons a day, which is several thousand gallons more than the city uses.

Airplane forest fire patrol service in Oregon will start until June 25, according to a letter received at the office of F. A. Elliott, state forester.

The Sheridan Light & Power Co., with headquarters at Sheridan, has filed with the Oregon public service commission application for an increase in rates.

John Steiger, prominent sheep man and rancher of Baker county and known throughout eastern Oregon, died Friday while on a fishing trip near Baker.

Bert Jewell, of Greenpoint, formerly county warden for Clackamas county, drowned in the Clackamas river when the boat in which he and two companions capsized.

About 80 representatives of Baptist churches of Malheur, Willowa, Union and Baker counties attended the Grande Ronde Baptist association, which was held at Baker.

W. H. Smith, Echo farmer, was killed on his ranch by Mayor Asa B. Thompson, of Echo, who went to aid the sheriff in arresting Smith on charges of robbery and assault.

Receipts of the motor vehicle department of the state government for the month of May, 1920, totaled $99,696, according to a financial statement prepared by the secretary of state.

Unprecedented increase in business during the past few months is given as the reason for the increase in the capital stock of the Phez company of Salem from $1,500,000 to $4,000,000.

A number of men of Coburg and vicinity were cited by Deputy Sheriff Croner to appear before District Attorney Ray and explain why they have not obtained state licenses for their dogs.

Washington county Holstein breeders held a field meeting on the farm of H. Martin, near Eddy. Mr. Martin has a herd of thorough-bred cattle. A cattle judging contest for both adults and boys was staged.

For the purpose of discussing the wool and mohair market situation and the organization of a county wool and mohair growers' association, a series of meetings of growers of wool and mohair will be held in Linn county this week.

The fight of the Dallas churches to close the moving picture theaters in the city on Sunday was lost when the citizens of the town in a special election decided they wanted the Sunday evening shows by a vote of 407 to 260, ending a bitter fight.

A large amusement hall and several homes for employes of the Oregon Lumber company are being constructed at Bates, a lumber camp on the Sumpster Valley railroad, by the lumber corporation, in an effort to better living conditions and afford recreation to its employes.

Between 6000 and 7000 pheasant eggs are to be hatched this year at the state game farm at Eugene, according to State Game Warden Burghdoff. At present 1300 young birds are out and 2600 eggs are under the hens. The Corvallis farm will also produce about 7000 birds this year.

Because a large number of cases of illness from stomach trouble have developed in Medford from unknown causes, none serious, Dr. E. B. Pickel, city health officer, has issued a warning to all users of city water to boil the water for cooking and drinking purposes until a sample of the water has been analyzed by the state board of health.
