SATURDAY, OCTOBER 9, IS FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Saturday, October 9, is fire prevention day in this state. Governor Olcott's proclamation is as follows:

Because the prosperity and happiness of our people and the economic welfare of our state are directly dependent upon the production and conservation of wealth,

Because loss from fire is an impediment to the progress and a drain upon the resources of the state of Oregon which takes toll from every individual and industry,

Because of the 1919 fire loss of over two million dollars as tangible and real as if stolen in gold coin from our treasuries,

Because the extravagant destruction of property is second only to the appalling sacrifice of human life,

Because at least 60 per cent of this loss can be saved if every individual in the state realizes personal responsibility and practices fire prevention,

Therefore I, Ben W. Olcott, governor of Oregon, in order to awaken our people to a realization of their patriotic duty, do hereby proclaim Saturday, the ninth day of October, 1920, as fire prevention day, urging that on this day the people of the state give attention to fire protection.

That each inspect his own premises for fire hazards,

That general educational exercises be held in all schools of the state on fire prevention,

That special attention be given to the subject from the press and the pulpit,

That all officials and legislators give thought to their duty in the matter of providing public safety from fire,

That every individual make a firm resolution to not relax their vigilance against the danger from fire during the coming year.

Given under my hand and the seal of the state of Oregon this 29th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred twenty.
