Are Your Eyes Weak?

Are you troubled with imperfect sight, letters blurred or running into each other, skipping of words or letters in reading, seeing objects double, floating specks, aversion to light, confusion of objects which is relieved by closing the eyes, tired feeling in and behind the eyes, and the object looked at, holding the book or work farther away than formerly in order to see distant objects as well as your friends see them.

If so, it is time your eyes need attention
