

Republicans for Stanfield
Harding Needs Republican
Senate
Oregon Needs Protective Tariff

R. N. STANFIELD

As is generally known, the present republican majority in the United States senate is just one vote. Republican control of that body is, therefore, in jeopardy. It is the realization of this fact which is causing Oregon's republicans to unite in support of the candidacy of the republican nominee for United States senator, Robert N. Stanfield. With a difference of only one vote in the present senate, republican voters have awakened to the fact that if they vote for George E. Chamberlain they may be that very act be turning control of the senate over to the democrats. On the other hand, by electing Robert N. Stanfield it is possible that his single vote may give the republicans control of the senate, and thus put that body solidly back of Harding.

Oregon producers are fearful of the effect that the election of Cox and a democratic senate would have upon them. It is quite evident that under democratic rule rival products of foreign origin would offer a serious menace to many Oregon products. If the American standard of living is to be maintained, Oregon farmers, livestock men, fruit growers, lumbermen and woolgrowers must receive a price for their products which will enable them to make a reasonable profit over and above the cost of production. They will be unable to obtain such reasonable profit, or any profit at all, unless a republican administration is elected to levy protective tariff duties just high enough to save our producers from the ruinous competition threatened by Canadian wheat and lumber, New Zealand butter, Australian wool, Argentine corn and beef, European beet sugar, South American meat and hides and Manchurian beans and peas.

To hamper a republican president with a democratic senate flies in the face of the well accepted principle that governmental management should be centered, so that the people can correctly place the responsibility for success or failure. The feeling among Oregon republicans is, therefore, becoming quite general that Harding, if elected, is entitled to the support of a republican senate and that, therefore, Oregon should elect the republican senatorial nominee, Robert N. Stanfield, to help back up Harding.

An expert from the United States department of biology at Washington, D. C., is expected to be sent to Oregon to direct a campaign for the extermination of gray diggers, pocket gophers and other destructive rodents. It was announced, as the result of an investigation of these rodents which has been made in Oregon by Vernon Bailey, biologist of the U. S. department of biology.

All advertising signs within the rights of way of state roads must be removed at once, according to a letter sent out by Herbert Nunn, state highway engineer, to all division engineers. The action was taken, according to Mr. Nunn's letter, on the theory that the highways are public property and no person has a right to appropriate a part of it to his own use by posting advertising matter.

Mrs. Mary L. Mallett of Portland was elected president of the Oregon Woman's Christian Temperance union at the 37th annual state convention in Portland. All the other officers were re-elected. They are: Mrs. Madge J. Mears of Portland, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. W. Miller of Milton, recording secretary; Mrs. Jane Donaldson of Portland, treasurer; Mrs. M. Frances Swopé, vice-president-at-large.

As a result of a verdict returned by a circuit court jury in Pendleton in the trial of Irvin Leroy Stoop and Floyd L. Henderson, charged with the murder of Sheriff T. H. Taylor July 25 last, Judge G. W. Phelps sentenced the men to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary. The jury had returned a verdict of guilty of first-degree murder for both men, with a recommendation of life imprisonment.
