Mill Dock Gives Way.

The W. L. Miller mill dock, heavily loaded with unseasoned lumber, collapsed Monday night sliding several thousand feet of lumber into the creek and damaging about 100 feet of flume, which ran under the dock from the mill. Mr. Miller employs two logging trucks, one of which passed over the dock that morning, finding it apparently as solid as ever. The collapse occurred in the evening, about 9:30, when there were no workmen about, and no one was injured in the wreck.

Few Union Men Saved Coin.

Salem, Ore., Nov. 9.—Fifty-eight per cent of the labor union members who have reported on an inquiry by the state labor commissioner claim they saved no money during the years 1918 and 1919, while 42 per cent say they saved an average of $259 for 1918 and $228 for 1919. Forty-eight per cent reported that they owned their own homes or had contracts to purchase, while 52 per cent were renters paying house rent which averaged $16.58 a month for 1918, $19.88 for 1919 and $23.70 for 1920. Those who own their own homes report the average value of their property at $2436.

The result of the inquiry is contained in the semi-annual report of O. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, given out today. Asked for suggestions relative to how the high cost of living might be overcome, the following suggestions were made by labor union members: Legislation against profiteers, more wages, law requiring that all manufactured goods bear the price mark, and to give labor a voice and hearing in industry.

Fordson
TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

More than 100,000 Fordson tractors have been sold to farmers in the United States. They are helping those farmers do more and better work in less time at less cost. North, east, south, west—everywhere the Fordson has proven itself a money-maker and a real necessity to the farmer. Besides it is helping mightily to solve the labor problem.

These 100,000 and more practical farmers have affirmed the economy—the exceptionally low fuel and operating cost—of the Fordson, its time and labor-saving qualities and its ability to increase production. The Fordson was built to be the most economical tractor; it is compact and devoid of excessive weight; and it is built of the same strong iron and steel as the Ford car.

Winter or bad weather does not hinder the Fordson's usefulness. Day or night—twenty-four hours a day if you choose—you can utilize the Fordson.

Only so many Fordsons are allotted to this territory. Orders are being filled in sequence—first come first served. Let us have yours now.

There's a practical use for the Fordson every day of the year. Let's tell you. Come in and have a tractor talk. Give us a chance to make a demonstration on your own farm.
