THINGS WE THINK

The man who is pleased with himself is usually hard to please in other ways.

If some people could have all the money they could use they would still kick about the price of things.

Did you ever say, "O, that's all right," when you wanted to condemn the person to eternal fires?

The man who says, "I never was lucky," doesn't get a job where a hustler is needed.

The person who is always finding fault with others may be trying to drag them down to his own level.

Everyone believes he is doing some good in this old world, but each one has a different way of judging what is good. Even Satan, if he could give us his opinion, would probably say that what he does serves as a useful purpose as anything done by any saint in heaven.

The spellbinder is a thing of the past. Voters want facts nowadays.

The political game is one where the great majority strike out and very few get to first base.

The wise wife is not sorry when hubby gets defeated for office.

We believe some folks cry hard times because they don't want others to know they are making money.

It's a favorite excuse with the defeated candidate to say that he did it for advertising.

You don't need a license to kill time—in fact, no one has any license to kill time.

Even with equal suffrage the woman shouldn't forget that after all it is the hand that rocks the cradle that really rules the world.

Editor Assured Re-election. Elbert Bede several weeks ago announced his candidacy for reelection as reading clerk of the house and the letters received from members indicate that he is assured of reelection, probably without opposition. He served in that position in the 1919 and 1920 sessions.

CHUM GIVES CHUMS SHOPPING ADVICE

Dear Mabel and Jack: I have just returned home from a day's shopping, worn to a thread—despite my 165 pounds—but greatly relieved as I look over my purchases of Christmas gifts as they lie here in front of me. While I rest a bit I'm going to tell you of my experience. I spent about three hours just "window" shopping and looking about, going down one side of the street and up the other, and had just about concluded to let it go for another day when a thought of the Rexall Drug Store came to me—happy thought—and I proceeded there at once and solved my problems in about one-third the time I had spent in looking about and hoping to find something I wanted.

This Rexall Drug Store is "some" store, with a big, fresh, clean stock of holiday goods and a variety that surprised me and I can't help telling you folks of it when I know you will be too weary and in too much of a hurry at this late date to be tramping everywhere when I'm sure you can get so many of the gifts and home articles you will want right there and they treat you nice along with it. They really sell you a service with the goods you buy. But here I'm wasting a lot of time as I want to tell you what I saw there, or at least some of the things.

They have a lot of Ivory ware in sets and individual pieces—the Pyralis kind—that fine-grained, heavy, beautiful material made into combs, brushes, mirrors, puff and powder boxes, buffers, dresser trays, shoe horns and hooks, clocks, perfume and toilet water bottles, picture frames, jewel boxes, lamps, baby novelties, and a lot of things I can't tell.

In the stationery department they have a wonderful assortment of greeting cards—I never saw anything prettier, and the gift stationery is wonderful, too. This will surely strike you as I know how "daffed" you are over beautiful stationery of real quality.

Then they have the Ever-Sharp pen and the Waterman and Tempomat fountain pens, books—especially gift and children's books, bibles, tourists' pads, ink stands and calendars, kodak albums, baby and address books.

You can depend on me seeing all the beautiful things in the toilet goods department. This should be a gentle hint to Jack to step in on the sly and look these wonderful combination sets over. Cara Nome and Jonteele odors are put up in combination sets of from two to five articles each and make handsome and pleasing gifts; then there are any number of single pieces of various kinds that are as dainty as you could ask.

Besides all of these I saw Ingersoll watches, razors, smoking sets, purses, bill folds, ladies' vanity and change purses, brushes—hair and cloth, manicure sets in rolls, hand-painted china, thermos bottles, flash lights, candy, and—Oh, Gee! What's the use! I can't tell you all the pretty things these people have there that will really make your shopping easy and pleasant, to say nothing of really saving money, for their prices are very reasonable.

Here, it's supper time, and I must stop with a word of warning to be sure to get into the right place so you won't be disappointed. It is the Rexall Drug Store, next door to the telephone office—and remember you are to be with me two days before Christmas. Now, goodbye.

Your chum,
GRACE.

Macaroni and Cheese.
Break required amount of macaroni into small pieces and cook till tender in salted water, stirring constantly. Drain when cooked. Grease a baking dish and cover bottom of dish with a layer of grated or finely shaved cheese. Add a layer of the cooked macaroni, with pepper and salt and tins flecks of butter. Then add more cheese, continuing till the dish is full. Cover top with a layer of crushed bread or cracker crumbs, and more flecks of butter. Pour sufficient milk over the contents that when you tip the dish slightly the milk is visible at the side of the dish. Set in a pan of water and bake in the oven till browned.

Household Hints

Always heat an aluminum cooking utensil before putting your food to cook; as aluminum heats slowly, this hastens the actual cooking period.

After roast or boiled meat has become cold, cover with cloth wrung out of cold water, to prevent the outside becoming dry.

When you have frosted a cake and it does not look smooth, try dipping a knife in hot water, then smoothing the frosting with it.

When using marshmallow cream heat the spoon and the cream will come out without trouble.

Set boiled potatoes away in covered dish—they will not have surface dried to cut away and waste.

Have a small steel knitting needle handy for use in testing cakes.

Instead of using cord for hanging up your brooms and brushes and dust pans, a wire is better and it will not soil or wear out.

After washing crocheted lace, wrap it around a bottle filled with hot water. The lace should not be ironed but pulled into shape.

When basting velvet, use sewing silk instead of cotton. When the stitches are removed there will be no traces.

It is easier to bake croquettes than to fry them. It makes a pleasant variety in serving.

If there are people with whom you know that you can't agree, why in the name of common sense will you stick around where they are?

When a man tells his wife he is sorry about something he is usually thinking more of his own feelings than of hers.

We wrangle with some people from force of habit and our wrangling may mean nothing, but we must not forget that there are others who are likely to hear us and may not understand the situation.

When a man tells his wife he is sorry about something he is usually thinking more of his own feelings than of hers.

You get more genuine chewing satisfaction from the Real Tobacco Chew than you ever got from the ordinary kind. The good tobacco taste lasts so long—a small chew of this class of tobacco lasts much longer than a big chew of the old kind. That's why it costs less to use. Any man who has used both kinds will tell you that.
