EUGENE SCHOOL BOYS CAPTURE YOUNG BURGLAR

Milton Lane and Willie Westrope, pupils at the Dunn school just south of Eugene, are responsible for the apprehension of a youthful burglar who had been operating for a number of weeks past, according to his own confession to the officers.

These boys Friday forenoon followed the burglar out the road toward Spencer butte, compelled him to come down town with them and turned him over to Sheriff Stickle.

The burglar, who gave his name as Charles R. Shepard and his age 18, had stolen an overcoat belonging to young Lane, having entered the Lane home on South Willamette street a few days ago.

The boys recognized the coat worn by Shepard as he passed the school house as the one stolen, and they took after him.

When they caught up with him Shepard declared he knew nothing of any burglaries and agreed to go to the home of George Oswald, which was also robbed a few days ago.

Oswald identified a fountain pen in Shepard's possession as being his and accompanied the trio to the sheriff's office, where the officers obtained a complete confession of several burglaries committed by Shepard.

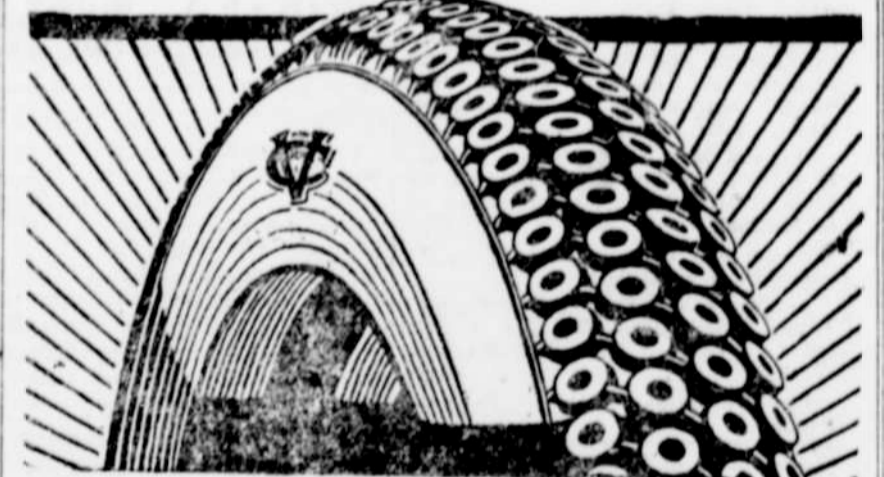

He told the officers that he had all the loot in a vacant house just outside the city limits on South Alder street where he had been staying for some time, and several suit cases filled with stolen clothing, jewelry and many other articles were recovered.

Flyers Buy Overlands.
The aerial patrol fliers assigned to work on the Mexican border are the top notchers of the game, and they can't help but show their capacity for correct observation and judgment in most of their moves.

For instance, four officers and a non-commissioned officer in B Flight 12 Aero Squadron, stationed at Nogales, Arizona, have purchased cars to take them to and from the flying field and aid in making quick trips if a flying machine is stalled while on daily patrol duty. And every one bought an Overland.

On account of the very small margin of profit in butter wraps, the price hereafter will be for cash only. Wraps sent out by mail necessarily will be sent c. o. d. unless paid for in advance.
