COTTAGE GROVE, LAKE COUNTY, OREGON, FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1921

NUMBER 29

THIS CITY UNPATRIOTIC VISITOR TELLS US

Says It Is Ridiculous to Send Away Many Thousand of Dollars from Home Industry.

A complete lack of patriotism on the part of many residents of Cottage Grove was noted by E. L. Melton, of the state dairy and food department, who was here Wednesday. "The idea of $30,000 being spent annually in a neighboring city for bread is ridiculous with two first class bakeries in your own city. If that business all went to your home bakeries they would be enabled to put in plants that would be a credit to the city and possibly get much more suitable buildings than those they are now occupying. It is not enough to condemn the stores for selling foreign bread. The way to get local stores to handling local bread is for those who eat the bread to demand the home product. I have never before seen a lack of pride in the home industries that equals this."

East Main Paving May Be Stopped.

The paving of east Main street this year probably will not go ahead, due to the fact that several property owners protested that they could not this year afford the improvement, although they wished it as soon as financially able to stand it. The paving of First alley south has been stopped by a remonstrance.

SLIDE ON HIGHWAY NEAR DIVIDE AS BAD AS EVER

The landslide on Pacific highway just south of Divide near the Lane-Douglas county line is worse than ever, says Emmett Sharp, county commissioner, who was in that locality Monday.

Mr. Sharp says that on the Frank Turner place, where the slide occurred, the bar is now on the edge of a precipice and the residence is only 15 feet away. He says the land is still sliding and it will be a matter of only a short time until both buildings will be undermined.

Mr. Sharp says that the slide extends almost a quarter of a mile back on the hill and he sees no remedy for it but to relocate the highway. This is a short distance south of the overhead crossing at Divide, which has been damaged to some extent by the sliding character of the soil there.

The commissioner says that dirt and mud are constantly covering the highway and two men are almost constantly employed to wheel it off nearly every day.

GRADE IS TO BE IRONED OUT OF MOUNTAIN ROAD

The county court and the forest service will cooperate in the building of a short stretch of grade on the Sharp's creek road for the elimination of what is known as the Staples grade, which is short and steep. The new road will veer off to the north below the present bridge and cross the creek quite a little distance from the present bridge site, hitting the old road on the other side of the grade. The cost of grade and bridge is estimated at about $1000, of which the county will bear $300 and the forest service the remainder. The Staples grade is about half way between Red Bridge and Mineral.

EUGENE BOWLERS WILL CONTEST HERE TONIGHT

A challenge from bowlers of the Eugene chamber of commerce has been accepted by the bowling committee of the Cottage Grove commercial club and the contest will be held here this evening. Those making the highest scores in the recent tournament were selected for positions on the local team. Those picked by this method being Charles Adams, K. E. Short, S. L. Mackin, G. A. Proctor, N. J. Nelson, Jr., and A. W. Swanson.

HEAVY BLAST MAY HAVE BEEN POWDER DESTROYED

A number of residents were alarmed Monday night at about 10 o'clock by a heavy blast north of the city. What caused the heavy blast has not been determined, but Deputy Sheriff Pitcher thinks that a farmer who had some spoiled powder which Pitcher had ordered destroyed or removed to a place of safety was set off it. Children had gotten into it where it was stored outdoors and Pitcher thought its presence a menace.

KNUD C. HANSEN HAD BEEN RESIDENT 20 YEARS

The funeral of Knud Christian Hansen was held from the chapel Monday afternoon, Rev. J. S. Penix, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Death occurred early Friday night. Mr. Hansen was born in Odense, Denmark, Aug. 3, 1849, came to the United States in 1870 and to Oregon 20 years ago. He was a bachelor and leaves only one close relative, a brother, Christen Hansen, of this city, also a bachelor, with whom he made his home.

PAPER SENT TO CANADA ARRIVES IN SOUTH AMERICA

To send a newspaper to one subscriber in Canada and have it delivered to another subscriber in Bogota, Colombia, South America, is some little stunt, but a letter from Mrs. Marion Beatty Birchett indicates that such is what happened. Papers were mailed the same day to Albert Woodard in Canada and to her in Colombia. The two arrived at the latter point tied together like Siamese twins. Mr. Woodard was the loser, Mrs. Birchett says, but she does not state whether or not she was able to get more enjoyment out of the two papers than she would have out of only one. Mrs. Birchett says that she will be home next year to visit her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Beatty.

AGE OF 85 IS NOTHING TO ONE LIVING IN FAVORABLE CLIMATE

A matter of 85 years makes little difference to one fortunate enough to have become a resident of the famous, fertile, fruitful Willamette in his younger years. W. W. Shortridge came here in '53, has been here ever since and hopes to round out a century as a resident here. In order to keep in trim and preserve his youthful vigor he is putting in his own garden and always does his own chores. Mr. and Mrs. Shortridge will celebrate their sixtieth anniversary in August. Of eleven children born to them, all are living in this vicinity.

NOT A VACANT HOUSE; AND DELIVERIES DOUBLE LAST YEAR'S

The prosperity of a city can be pretty well gauged by the number of vacant houses and the amount of goods delivered by the stores of the city. Robert Hanna, who operates the Union delivery states that the little truck he used a year ago would not begin to start to carry the merchandise this year, deliveries being at least twice as great. "I cover the whole city," he states, "and if anyone were to ask me where to find a vacant house I couldn't tell them. I don't know of any."

DAMAGE TO FRUIT IS LIGHT, SAYS INSPECTOR

Damage to fruit by the frosts of the past week has been light, according to Fruit Inspector Stewart, of this city. Very early strawberries have been nipped, he states, but no other fruit has been hurt unless it be peaches. He thinks the total fruit yield will be in no way affected. Heavy early morning fogs unquestionably helped in saving the fruit. The barometer indicates that a change for warmer weather is due.

Abandoned Car Again Deserted.

George Dahl and son Ernest returned Monday afternoon from a trip to Scottsburg, where they went to get Mr. Dahl's car, which had been abandoned there last year when the family was on its return from Marshfield. A broken piece of mechanism was replaced and the car started on its way, but after the arrival of Mr. Dahl and son, rain and snow had put the roads into such condition that the trip had to be again given up after a distance of about two miles had been covered. The round trip from Drain, a distance of about 100 miles, was made on foot. The roads were found to be good between Drain and Elkton.

Building Forest Phone Lines.

Rangers E. S. Holderman and Fred Asam are building a telephone line along the new trail up Laying creek to the Willamette divide and then along this divide to the Hardesty mountain lookout station, where the line will connect with the Cascade national forest telephone system, which has headquarters in Eugene. The new line will be about 10 miles in length.

P. G. M. Visits Masonic Lodge.

F. J. Miller, of Albany, past grand master of Oregon and a member of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home Committee, visited the local lodge Wednesday evening, delivering an address in connection with the campaign to raise funds for the completion of the home, which will be ready for occupancy before the first of the year.

Will Open Harness Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Foss and son arrived Monday from Drain to make this their home. Mr. Foss will open a harness and shoe repair shop in the Harvey building which has several times before been occupied by the same kind of business. M. C. Cochran moved out of this building.

To Organize W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lottie Hannon, of Portland, stopped off here Wednesday on her return from attending the national W. C. T. U. conference in California for the purpose of organizing a local union. A meeting will be held this afternoon at the Christian church.

Dan Hamant's Car Is Burned.

Dan Hamant's Dodge roadster was one of the cars in the Pierce garage at Eugene when the building burned last week. The Hamant car was barely gotten out but it is doubtful if it can be repaired, although it may be possible to use the engine.

Low Scores in Shoot.

The scores were low in the regular gun club shoot Sunday. N. J. Nelson, Jr., was high with 22 and Helliwell was next with 20. Other scores were: P. E. Nelson and Enderly 18, Grube 17, Bartell and Glass 15, Sanford and Cooper 8.

EUTERPEANS PLEASE IN ELABORATE PROGRAM

Dramatic, Artistic, Spectacular and Comedy Stuff All Have Prominent Part in Entertainment.

Probably the best and certainly the most comprehensive and most elaborate entertainment ever given by the Euterpean club, Miss Sissy's pupils in vocal music, was the Orpheum program in the high school auditorium Friday evening and it was a subject of comment by many that so much talent was to be found in a city of the size of Cottage Grove.

The opening number, old favorite songs, sung by Mrs. Shinn, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Cruson, probably was the most highly complimented portion of the entire program. The stage was decorated artistically to represent a garden. Adeline Adams and Cecil Ames illustrated "The Old Oak Bucket," Neita Hazleton and Ed. Skilling "Juanita," Mrs. C. S. Roberts "Annie Laurie," Inez White "The Last Rose of Summer," S. L. Mackin and M. H. Anderson "Auld Lang Syne," and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beidler and little Madeline "Home Sweet Home," the latter being a most touching scene. Mrs. Charles Adams directed this portion of the program.

The representation of "The Old Fashioned Garden," was given in beautiful costumes of pastel shades representing the different flowers. Mrs. Earl Garoutte, who sang the solo part, has a full mezzo voice and was ably supported. The beautiful decorations and dainty steps made this the most spectacular number on the program. The flowers were impersonated by Mildred Hanna, Ruth Bede, Lillie Knight, Myrtle Potts, Kathryn McQueen, Marie Veatch, Elmer Knowles and Doris Holderman. This was directed by Mrs. Earl Arthur.

The solo, "I'm Waiting for Ships That Never Come In," was effectively sung by Ren Sanford with strong settings, being heartily encored.

The esthetic dancing number, under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Titus, was the first number of the kind ever attempted by Cottage Grove artists and its novelty, refinement and artistry met with the hearty approval of the audience. The costumes of old rose and gray were beautiful. Those taking the parts were Mrs. Titus, Mrs. Helliwell, Mrs. Arthur, Pauline Smith, Myrtle Potts, Ruth Bede, Elmer Knowles and Doris Holderman.

The opera, "The Little Tycoon," was the most pretentious, from a musical standpoint, of any number on the program. The stage represented the deck of a ship and the maidens never looked more stunning than in their sporting costumes returning from travels in Europe. George Matthews again greatly pleased with his baritone voice in the portrayal of General Knickerbocker. Dale Wyatt, as a typical college student, had a difficult role especially suited to his deep bass voice. Ren Sanford, as Lord Dolphin, took the jester part, recognized as more difficult than any other to maintain. Lester Phelps, as the valet, greatly assisted in making this portion dramatic. The part of Violetta, a dramatic soprano, was taken by Mrs. Earl Arthur, who, with her high soprano voice and clear enunciation, gave a strong presentation of the character. Mrs. Roy Short, always a favorite, in the part of Dolly, Violetta's friend, was at her best in the sweetly sung, "Love Comes Like a Summer Sign." The part of Miss Hurricane, the chaperone, was strongly sustained by Mrs. George Matthews.

Those taking the parts of tourists were Mrs. Short, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Trask, Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Helliwell, Frieda Aubrey, Marie Veatch, Myrtle Potts, Doris Holderman, Helen Lee, Mildred Hanna, Ruth Bede, Elmer Knowles, Mrs. Garoutte, Ermine Violette, Kathryn McQueen and Hazel Loucks.

The first part of "Southland" represented the religion and romance of the negro in chorus and part songs. The obligato solo, "Done Paid My Vow to the Lord," sung by Myrtle Potts, was especially suited to her strong dramatic voice. Marie Veatch, a new voice to the Cottage Grove public, was of clear and distinct sweetness in the part song, "Deep River." The quartet, "Mighty Lak a Rose," was sung by Mrs. Shinn, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Cruson, the fine blending of their voices again being apparent. This number was heartily encored. Those with "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "I'm a Longin' for You," completed this portion of the program. Chorus members: Mrs. Shinn, Mrs. Loucks, Hazel Loucks, Marie Veatch, Kathryn McQueen, Doris Holderman, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Trask, Mrs. Matthews, Helen Lee, Elmer Knowles, Mildred Hanna, Frieda Aubrey, Mrs. Helliwell, Myrtle Potts and Mrs. Garoutte.

The closing number of the program was a clean sketch, "The Parson's Surprise Party," written and directed by Ren Sanford. Aunt Eliza, chef for the party and boss of the roast, was ably impersonated by Mrs. Loucks. Those arriving for the party were attracted by the pungent odor of Aunt Eliza's cooking and Evan Chew expressed his appreciation in "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," being ably and willingly assisted by Marshmallow Flowers, Mesmerino Snow, George Washington Green and Florin Slappey. This quartet also sang "My Little Cotton Dolly." Following the breaking up of a game of craps by Aunt Eliza three black topsies danced in and sang "You're Ma Little Bit o' Honey."

Mammy's little picaninny came in from her play and dropped to sleep to the tune of "Bless Yo Heart," sung by Marshmallow Flowers. The topsies were so affected that they responded with "I'd Love to Fall Asleep and Wake Up in Mammy's Arms."

MILL MEN OPTIMISTIC BUT HOLDING THEIR BREATH

All Plants Are in Condition to Care for Business When Turn for Better Comes.

The lumber situation remains a puzzle to the mill men of this section. All seem certain that better times have got to come but no two agree as to the exact time when the business may be put on a paying basis. Wages have been cut as low as the cost of living will permit and in many cases probably are lower than the present scale of prices on goods which the wage earner must have. One operator is emphatic in his statement that the men here are suffering because those in other industries have been able to keep their wage scales up.

If railroads pay the peak price for help, that reduces the price we can pay our employees and still operate. If the carpenters in the big cities will not stand a cut, no one will build and we can't sell our lumber, making a kind of competition which cuts the heart out of prices. If the machinist will not cut his wages, then our excessive repair bills eat the amount left to pay out in wages. Thus it goes. It might be said that we are operating from day to day and hoping against hope that it won't be necessary to close down. The slight cut in railroad rates is hardly a drop in the bucket in relieving the situation.

There is cause for optimism in the fact that all operators feel quite certain that within a year the situation will be entirely different and are keeping plants in condition to take care of the situation when the market takes a turn for the better. Mills not operating are being put in condition to start on a moment's notice. A. L. Woodard, who bought the defunct Pallett equipment at Veatch's spur, has things pretty well in shape and tried out the saws for a day or two. Joshua Rouse is getting into shape his mill which has not operated for a number of years.

H. S. Rogers, logging superintendent of the Southern Pacific company, reports mills getting into operation along his lines. Norman F. Coleman, president of the Four Ls, predicts a 50 to 60 per cent normal condition by the middle of summer.

BRIDGE INSPECTION SAVES ROW RIVER STRUCTURE

A case wherein regular inspection of county bridges has resulted in prolonging the life of one of the structures on upper Row river Monday was cited by J. W. McArthur, county bridge superintendent.

On this bridge was a cord that had partially rotted away but by cutting away the rotted part, treating it with creosote and filling in with new lumber the cord was saved and Mr. McArthur says he does not think that a new bridge there will be necessary for six or eight years.

This condition in the bridge was discovered during one of the periodical inspections of the bridges in that section. Had it been allowed to continue for some time a new bridge would doubtless have been a necessity, said Mr. McArthur.

The superintendent made a trip up Row river Saturday. He says his bridge crew is making good progress with the work of repainting 16 bridges in that locality.

COTTAGE GROVE SCHOOLS IN ON NEAR EAST RELIEF

The statement made last week that Cottage Grove had raised no funds for the near-east relief was in error. The item was one speaking of the amount just raised by the Dorena school for that purpose and the writer of the story thought a new drive was referred to. The money raised applied on the amount subscribed last year for near-east relief and which is to be raised during the year. The Cottage Grove schools have raised some $400 or more in that campaign. The item was written in Cottage Grove, so that the error was not made by anyone living at Dorena, where the recent funds were raised. The city proper also raised a considerable sum in the near-east drive last year.

If you like the editorials, tell your friends about them, and help to make them bear fruit.

Marshmallow Flowers and Florin Slappey made up in "In Old Manila" and responded with "Dreamy Alabama." Old Black Joe appeared at the close of the play singing the favorite song and the party broke up in a ragtime piece, "The Darktown Strutter Ball." The cast of characters was as follows:

Aunt Eliza.....Mrs. Loucks
Florin Slappey.....Ren Sanford
Marshmallow Flowers.....Myrtle Potts
Evan Chew.....George Matthews
George Washington Green....."Old Black Joe"
Wild Cat.....Dale Wyatt
Squabba Brown.....Lester Phelps
Mesmerino Snow.....Elmer Knowles
Topsy.....Elmer Knowles, Kathryn McQueen and Ermine Violette
Clementina.....Pauline Smith
Pickaninny.....Hazel Swanson
The scenery and stage settings were made by Lester Phelps and Ren Sanford, the latter acting as stage director. Miss Price accompanied ably but a few numbers. Miss Sissy directed the music and she was more than ably assisted by Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Arthur and Mrs. Titus, who had the direction of the special numbers.

The program was repeated last night because of the large number turned away the first night.

MAXWELL CAR GETS AWAY WITH A JAG JAZZ ON MAIN STREET

A Maxwell car driven by Currin Purvance did a jag jazz on Main street Friday afternoon with a carload of high school students starting out to take scenic pictures. The casting which connected the right wheel to the steering apparatus was found to be broken and it was quite evident from an examination of the break that for a long time the casting had been held together by metal not thicker than a toothpick. Had the accident occurred on a narrow grade or at a high rate of speed the consequences might have been serious. As it was nothing more serious happened than that the car came to a stop at the curb on the wrong side of the street, and under the circumstances the marshal overlooked the fact that the car was improperly parked.

BOVINES ALSO MUST BE PROPERLY PARKED SAY CITY FATHERS

In the enforcement of traffic laws it is found that four-cylinders bovines are frequently incorrectly parked, much to the inconvenience of property owners where such bovines are parked, and the city council has instructed the marshal to enforce the ordinance which prohibits parking such bovines in front of the property of another without permission. Even the one hour limit, which applies to other motor vehicles, does not apply in the application of the provisions of this ordinance.

CANNERIES OTHER PLACES GET INTO TROUBLE; C. G. GOES ON

While many canneries elsewhere have gotten into financial straits during the past year the Cottage Grove industry has held its own and is in good condition for the conduct of this year's business. The local plant had its difficulties during the first few years of its operations. Producers who pooled their product last year got better returns than those of many other similar institutions throughout the state. The last of last year's pack has been about cleaned up during the past week.

Teacher Hurt in Accident.

Miss Helen Lee, one of the teachers, was slightly injured in a motorcycle accident Saturday. While walking into the city she was given a lift by John Garoutte on the rear seat of his motorcycle. During the trip into the city the machine skidded and upset, slightly injuring both riders.

GIRLS LOSE WAY ON HIKES TO WEST CAVES

A party of five girls who started on a hike Saturday for the caves two miles west of the city missed the caves, lost their way and struck civilization three miles this side of Loran on the south road, about 10 miles from home. They completed the trip on foot. Those in the party were Genevieve Rice, Ethel Gilstrap, Gertrude Clark, Frances Newland and Myrtle Hubbell.

TOURIST TRAFFIC IS GETTING ITS STRIDE

Tourist traffic waits not for man or weather. Scores pass through here daily on the main Pacific highway. In a short time in one day recently fifteen cars from California alone were counted. Several times last summer cars averaged one a minute and this year the number probably will be much greater.

Health Nurse Here Today.

Miss Brownell, county public health nurse, spends this week in the southern end of the county. Miss Johnson, of the school of public health nursing in Portland, and Miss Mozelle Hair, of the U. of O., are making this trip with her. They will be in Cottage Grove today. Miss Brownell will work in the schools in the forenoon and hold her regular conference from 2 to 4 in the afternoon in the high school. All interested persons are invited to attend. There will be a joint meeting of the Cresswell committee and the local committee at 4 p. m., also at the high school.

Attending Mining Congress.

Edd Jenks, G. G. Warner, Dale Wyatt and John Coffman left this week to attend the mining congress in Portland. The two first named went as delegates from the Bohemia district and will remain throughout the entire session in charge of a comprehensive display of minerals sent from here.

Loses Chicks and Brooder House.

R. T. Martin lost about 1000 baby chicks Friday night of last week when his brooder house burned. The house itself was valuable and the total loss is considerable. The origin of the fire is unknown but a brooder stove had been left burning.

Births 10, Deaths 6.

Births during the month of March were 10, six males and four females, according to the report of Health Officer Job. The deaths were six, three males and three females.

Addition to Allison Building.

An addition is being made to the Allison building, occupied by the barber shop, the rear portion being raised to two stories.

Mrs. Allie Foster, George Foster, Mrs. F. M. Chapman, Mrs. George Allemen, Mrs. Harry and Mrs. N. Lewis came up from Divide Wednesday to see the war pictures.

JUNIETTA CREEK SELECTED FOR CITY WATERSHED

State Health Officer Recommends U. S. Forestry Official Is Agreeable.

W. F. Ramsdell, of Roseburg, forestry supervisor; Dr. Strickler, state health officer, and O. L. Nichols, engineer representing the city, visited the city's watershed last week for the purpose of selecting a permanent shed and determining upon the feasibility of continuing temporarily the use of the shed now in use. The state health officer stated that he would recommend the setting aside of the Junietta creek watershed as a permanent source of water supply. Mr. Ramsdell assured the members of the party that this would be agreeable to the government and it is understood to be agreeable to the U. S. Logging company which is operating in that district. This watershed has never been touched by logging operations and would be an unusually and expensive piece of logging. This shed is about three miles above the present source of supply in the Prayther creek watershed.

All old buildings remaining of the latter watershed were ordered burned and it is thought that there will be no danger for a long time in getting water from this source. For safety, however, it is probable that the city will at once move the intake pipe 1700 feet up the creek.

It was estimated that Prayther creek will at lowest water furnish all the city can reasonably require. Junietta creek has a flow twice as great.

The city does not contemplate moving at once to the Junietta watershed, even in the event that it is set aside by the government, but it is necessary to have a source of supply that can be moved to permanently when occasion requires.

ESTATE OF JOHN BADER VALUED AT OVER $100,000

John Bader was one of the wealthiest men in Lane county, according to the inventory of the property of his estate filed in probate court last week. The inventory shows that the property is valued at $108,247.75, all but about $30,000 being personal property consisting of cash in the bank, United States bonds issued during the war, bonds of numerous cities on the Pacific coast and a large number of notes. The appraisers are George O. Knowles, Charles Adams and M. H. Anderson. The property of the estate of William H. Shane is valued at $295.52, according to the inventory filed by George O. Knowles, George Wilson and John Graber, appraisers.

REBECCA WHITE, PIONEER OF '69, DIES AT LORANE

Mrs. Rebecca White, well known pioneer resident of Loran, died there Saturday following a stroke of paralysis. The funeral was held there Sunday forenoon. Mrs. White was born Nov. 13, 1843, at Greensboro, S. C., where she married J. F. White and in 1869 they came to Oregon and settled at Loran, where the husband died in February, 1905, after which time the widow lived alone. No children were born to the union. Surviving relatives are a brother, Jesse Dillon, of North Carolina, and two nieces, Mrs. G. M. Hawley, of this city, and Mrs. Maggie Perkins, of Haines, Ore.

MERCHANDISE GUN CLUB SHOOT IS ON THE BILLS

The Cottage Grove Rod and Gun club is planning a big merchandise shoot here on April 17 and is inviting trap shooters from all Willamette valley cities. The contests will consist of four 25-bird events and one 25-bird handicap. The new club house will be up before that time and the grounds put in tip-top condition for the big affair. Indications are that at least 50 shooters will be present from outside.

War Pictures Draw Crowd.

The official war pictures shown here Wednesday night under the auspices of the American Legion post drew a record crowd and many had to be turned away from the first show on account of lack of seating capacity. The band gave a short street concert in front of the show house. The pictures were all that they had been advertised to be.

—a few merchants, and the number is getting fewer every day, have the idea that they are so well known that they do not need to advertise.

—the merchant who takes this view is taking a different view than those who do the buying and he will note that the advertisers are enlarging their stocks and business each year while his remains the same or or are dwindling, and those who know him so well are doing some of their trading with the fellow who uses the newspapers to ask them to come there to trade.

—no merchant can afford to cater only to old customers, especially in the west, where populations change so rapidly.

—a growing business must seek new trade.

—advertising will bring new customers and keep the old ones interested.
