The Bay Horse mine, located in the eastern part of Baker county, is preparing a tramway which will accommodate the shipment of 50 tons of ore daily to Spokane. The values are principally silver.

Preparations have been completed for the summer sessions of the Oregon Normal school to be held at Monmouth, Pendleton and Ashland. The sessions will open at Monmouth and Pendleton June 27 and at Ashland June 20.

Mrs. Margaret Garland, aged 35 years, said to be housekeeper for Frank D. Wilson of Portland, was killed instantly and her employer was so seriously injured that he later died, when a small automobile in which they were driving to Portland after a picnic trip jumped from the Columbia river highway near Bridal Veil falls to the foot of a 400-foot cliff.

Actual development work on the United States submarine base at the Tongue point site has been begun. Active construction, however, must await the completion of surveys and other preliminaries.

Salmon are ascending the Upper Willamette and McKenzie rivers in large numbers, according to Master Fish Warden Carl Shoemaker, and prospects are that the egg take this year will be very large.

Units of the Oregon national guard from all sections of the state started moving Tuesday for Camp Lewis and Fort Stevens, where the annual encampment and field instruction will be held June 15 to 29, inclusive.

Delegates from most of the cities and towns of Marion, Linn, Yamhill, Polk, Benton and Lincoln counties to the number of approximately 150 participated in a district convention of the Neighbors of Woodcraft at Albany.

The eighteenth annual convention of the Sons and Daughters of Norway, district No. 2, comprising California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, British Columbia and Alaska, was held in Portland with nearly 100 delegates and visitors in attendance.

Wasco county will this year have one of the biggest harvests of wheat in its history unless the hot east wind injures it, according to E. R. Jackman, county agent. Mr. Jackman said the county's 1921 crop probably will yield 1,400,000 bushels of wheat.

Harry Agee, aged 30, of Portland, was stabbed in the throat beneath the right ear and wounded fatally. He died just after reaching the hospital. The police believe that the crime was committed by a burglar whom Mr. Agee had surprised rifling the bureau.

A break attributed to the burrowing of a gopher caused a dike protecting the Twentieth Century truck farm of J. H. Kobers at Hood River to give way, inundating the mid-Columbia's most extensive truck garden and entailing a loss estimated at more than $10,000.

C. P. Ragsdale, of Baker, who held the largest wool clip of last year and this year in that section of the state, approximately 270,000 pounds, has sold it to the Portland Warehouse company of Portland, receiving 16 cents a pound. The clip was of the finest quality.

The telegram was signed by R. A. Boon, chairman of the commission.

The Oregon Growers' Co-operative association, with headquarters in Salem, now has a total of 1804 members, and controls approximately 20,723 acres of land in the western part of the state. When the association was organized, August 1, 1919, the membership was 137 and the acreage did not exceed 3000 acres.

Several months will elapse before the machinery is in shape to enable the soldiers' bonus bill to function. The distribution of a bonus and loans to the service men will be in the hands of a commission consisting of the governor, the secretary of state, the adjutant-general of the state and two other members to be appointed by the governor, one of whom shall be a service man. These members are to serve without compensation.

Sherman county, which for many years has had the distinction of being the first county in Oregon to file returns of elections with the secretary of state, now has to take a back seat. Yamhill and Washington counties share honors for first place in filing the results of the special election with the state department. The returns from these two counties reached the secretary of state Friday.

Canvassing the votes probably will start this week and probably will be completed before July 1, according to the secretary of state.

Canada Admits Hindoo Woman.
The first Hindoo woman and the first Hindoo boy who ever entered Vancouver or British Columbia, Canada, to make the province their home, arrived recently on the Empress of Japan. There are thousands of Hindoos living in the province, engaged in working in the woods or in operating sawmills. Some of them have made much money. For a long time the government refused admission to Hindoo women, but recently this ban was lifted. The new arrival was the first woman to take advantage of it. Her husband went to India from Vancouver three years ago, to pay a visit to his home. He had made money and intended to remain in India, but when the ban on women was lifted he decided to return where opportunities were greater. He brought his wife and twelve-year-old son. The father intends to send the boy to the public schools of Vancouver.

Tells of Web-Footed Men.
The most curious tribe, called Agmambu, are to some extent web-footed, and the skin of their feet is "as tender as blotting paper." They live in a marsh and are so much at home in the water that they seem "to stand upright in that element without any perceptible effort." They catch ducks by diving under them and catching the birds' legs.

Their diet consists chiefly of fish, water fowls, sage and the roots of water lilies. They keep pigs, swung in cradles, underneath their houses (which are in the water built on ten-foot poles), lying on their bellies with their legs stuck through the bottom and feed them on fish and sage. The dead are buried by being tied to a stake, the body secured well above flood level.—From "Some Experiences of a New Guinea Resident Magistrate," by Capt. C. A. W. Monkton.

Napoleon's Dessert Service Sold.
A French dessert dish of gilt plate double thread and shell pattern, consisting of two sugar sifters, four spoons, a pair of sugar tongs, 24 small spoons, 24 forks and knives with porcelain handles, formerly the property of Emperor Napoleon, and bearing the imperial cipher of the bee, was sold in a London auction house not long ago. The service was the property of a nobleman whose name is not revealed.—London Times.

ARCADE THEATER WEEKLY PROGRAM

Fri.—"When Arizona Won" Shorty Hamilton. A real western.

Eddy Polo in "King of the Circus," episode II.

Sat.—"The Luck of the Irish," an Allan Dwan production, by Herold McGrath.

Snub Pollard in "When the Wind Blows."

Sun.—"Alarm Clock Andy," Charles Ray. Andy Gray (Chas. Ray) stuttering young auto salesman, practices salesmanship in his boarding house room before his cracked mirror. His manspraying was right, but he always ran slow. Before he could utter his sales talk, his "prospects" ordered from some one else.

"Monkey Business, a Sunshine comedy.

Mon.—Tues.—"Humoresque," featuring Alma Rubins. A story by Fannie Hurst. A Cosmopolitan production. Beginning in the clamor of New York's Ghetto. Rising to the heights. The ending. Where? A story that cries to hide its laughter and laughs to hide its tears.

Wed.—"The False Road," Emil Bennett. A story of love that was lost on the Primrose path, then found again on the way called straight.

Comedy, "Artistic Enemies."

Thur.—Fri.—"The Cradle of Courage," Bill Hart. Wm. S. Hart is seen as a crook who is reformed through his long service in France and who on return home, becomes a policeman charged with the duty of bringing his former pals to justice. This is a fascinating picture and every scene has its distinct Hart punch.

Eddie Polo in "King of the Circus."

Sat.—"Excuse My Dust," Wallie Reid.

Today is short, yesterday is gone, tomorrow may never come. If you've got anything to do get busy. Join the Chamber of Commerce during week of June 20.
