SIMS ORDERED HOME BY SECRETARY DENBY

Admiral Says Report of His Speech Was Garbled and Inaccurate.

Washington, D. C. — Rear-Admiral Sims was ordered home from London by Secretary Denby as a result of his speech attacking Sinn Fein sympathizers in the United States.

The order, however, was not expected to expedite Admiral Sims' return, as he had planned to return on the Olympic, which sails Wednesday and is the first available ship.

Admiral Sims was granted leave of absence to go abroad to receive a degree from an English university.

Remarks attributed to him in press reports of his address before the English-speaking union in London, in which he criticized activities of Sinn Fein sympathizers, were not correctly quoted and were misleading, Admiral Sims declared in a cablegram received by Secretary Denby.

The reply of Rear Admiral Sims, constituting virtually a complete disavowal of the statements attributed to him in his London speeches, has made it almost certain that no severe punishment will be meted out to him when he returns to report in person to the secretary. It was said in high naval quarters.

WOULD EXEMPT U. S. COASTWISE SHIPPING

Washington. — American coastwise shipping would be exempted from payment of Panama canal tolls under a bill ordered favorably reported by the senate interoceanic canals committee.

The committee vote was unanimous after Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, had withdrawn a request that hearings be held.

Chairman Borah, author of the bill, said that since the question was the subject of exhaustive hearings eight years ago, there was no need of hearings at this time.

The decision to report out the Borah bill, applicable only to American coastwise ships, rather than the Jones-Poinceter bills which would give all American shipping free canal passage, was reached, committee members said, because it was believed it would be easier to pass a coastwise shipping bill.

DISARMAMENT PLAN WINS

Powers Are Said to be in Favor of Scheme.

Washington, D. C.—Great curiosity is manifested in replies that have come from the nations queried by President Harding in his disarmament feelers. It was reported that Japan, which in its first informal response to the informal question rather avoided committing itself, has been won around by England to an expression of sympathetic interest in the disarmament proposals.

England, France, Italy and Japan have now indicated that they will welcome any proposition that means reduction of great war establishments. Germany was said to have intimated that on the resumption of diplomatic relations—which means at the end of the period of technical war between this country and Germany—she will be glad to join in the program.

Committee Favors Johnson Resolution.

Washington.—The house immigration committee ordered a favorable report on the Johnson resolution designed to correct the present immigration muddle. The committee amended the resolution so that in the form in which it was reported to the house it permits admission of the more than 10,000 immigrants now held at Ellis Island or on their way to the United States, but does not lift the quota of 20 per cent to which immigration was limited for the month of June under the recently enacted immigration law.

Roy Gardner, Mail Robber, Escapes.

Kelso, Wash.—After holding up one of his two guards with a revolver concealed on his person, Roy Gardner, mail train robber who was being taken from Sacramento, Cal., to McNeille island to serve two 25-year terms, escaped from a train near here and is still at large. He was accompanied by Norris H. Pyron, another prisoner to whom he was handcuffed, who was recaptured by a posse of Kelso citizens.

Pueblo, Colo.—Rebuilding of the city of Pueblo, including the reconstruction of wrecked homes, restoration of the business and industrial sections devastated by water and the administration of relief throughout the flooded district, has been turned over to the direction of the American Red Cross disaster relief administration.

No New-Fangled Notions.

John came from down state to the city schools. He was placed in the seventh grade, and then his teacher's troubles began. His mother thought the course of study should be identical with the one which had held sway in the faraway red schoolhouse. She objected strenuously to physical culture and music, saying they were a waste of time.

And then came John's first day at manual training. The next day came an indignant note to the teacher from John's mother. It read: "Dear Miss — I want you to quit having John waste his time at school. That music and physical torture exercise was bad enough, but now you begin to learn him to whittle. Please stop it immediately or I'll change him to another school. He inherits whittling from his father and his brains from me. I'm paying to educate him, so educate his brains."—Indianapolis News.

Superheated Steam.

Two decades ago few would have admitted the possibility of permanently regularly producing steam at temperatures of from 550 degrees to 650 degrees Fahrenheit within the restricted area of the ordinary locomotive boiler. Now thousands of locomotives use this superheated steam, and its use is increasing.

By heating steam 180 degrees Fahrenheit above the saturation temperature "hot steam" is produced. With this increase of temperature the steam is dried and the volume is increased. But the increase of volume is less important than the suppression of all condensation in the cylinders. If the superheat is sufficiently high. Hot steam being a bad conductor it also reduces loss by cooling in the cylinders from 25 to 30 per cent, according to type and structure of the engine.
