W. C. YORAN IS PEEVED BY SENTINEL STORY

Member of Fair Board Says That Advertising Matter Was Mailed to This Section.

Eugene, Ore., Sept. 24.—(To the Editor)—I received a marked copy of your paper with your complaint against the fair board and feel that, owing to the gross ignorance displayed when you addressed it to me as "Secretary Fair Board," I should try to enlighten you somewhat. I am not secretary, have not been for a year, and had you taken any interest whatever you would have known that W. A. Ayres is secretary, for his name in an official capacity has been repeatedly published during the past year.

I have been connected with the Lane county fair for the past four years and during that time have never found a member of the board who did not work for the interests of the whole county, regardless of sectionalism. As for the past year, there is no section of the county that has shown any interest in the fair that has not been met more than half way by the officers.

You say Cottage Grove used to make displays and did well. Why did Cottage Grove quit? There is not a member of the present board who has had the pleasure of Cottage Grove's cooperation. A year or so ago one of your citizens attended our annual meeting and showed interest and was elected to membership on the board of directors. He later reported to us that he was unable to get any exhibits from there. The members of the board give their time and bear considerable expense in promoting the annual exhibition and naturally expend their energies where they can realize the most for the effort. They do not feel it their duty to solicit any particular section of the county to participate in the annual fair, but rather that interested ones in every section should see that their particular section is represented, and they do all they can to help anybody and everybody. A county fair is like any thing else; we get out of it in proportion to what we put into it, and this Cottage Grove has done.

As for the matter of publicity, our secretary informs me that he sent numerous bills and premium lists to Cottage Grove and he has a letter from one of your citizens that the same were well distributed and displayed. We do not print a sufficient number of premium lists to give every citizen of the county one, but no one ever expressed a desire for one or for many who did not receive what they wanted.

A new fair board is to be elected early in November. They will be elected by the people at large. If Cottage Grove will be represented at that meeting, I am sure they can secure representation on the board, and if next year they care to participate in the annual fair they will find the board ready and glad to assist them in every way possible, or the new board will differ very materially from the several boards with which I have been associated.

W. C. YORAN.

Editorial Note—The Sentinel trusts that Mr. Yoran has not presumed as much in the remaining paragraphs of his letter as in the first paragraph. The Sentinel did not send him a marked copy, nor any other kind of a copy.

The Sentinel will not presume to say why Cottage Grove has not had an agricultural exhibit in recent years, although it often has heard a reason given, that reason indicating that the fault was not entirely at this end of the county. The better thing is not to harp on why this city has not had an exhibit recently but to go about getting it to have one for the next fair, which probably would not be a difficult thing for the fair board to bring about.

If the secretary says that he sent numerous bills and premium lists to this section, The Sentinel is not disposed to dispute his word. A resident here has stated that he helped mail posters and premium lists to this section, but the Sentinel has been unable to find a person within the city who received either one. None was received at the office of The Sentinel and even a letter to the secretary suggesting publicity was neither answered nor acted upon.

The Sentinel is pleased to have Mr. Yoran's letter, yet through it runs the idea which caused the unfavorable comment here, that members of the fair board took the position that it was useless to attempt to get cooperation from here and that no such attempt would be made.

The members of the fair board might do well to join in a game of give and take.

Mr. Yoran overlooks the main points of the complaint from here, the principal one of which was that it appeared that no effort was made to get attendance from this end of the county. Admission fees from here help to pay the expenses just as well as admission fees from anywhere else and any publicity given here has returned many times over the price of such publicity. Even Mr. Yoran cannot complain of a lack of cooperation from here in the matter of attendance, nor can he say that anyone from here has complained of the fact that part of his tax money goes to support the county fair.

Corned Beef and Vegetable Hash. Cut two cups cold corned beef into small pieces. Add two or three cups diced cooked potatoes, one finely chopped onion, one cup diced cooked turnip and one-half cup diced cooked carrots. Mix with three-fourths cup of water. Melt three tablespoons drippings or other fat in hot frying pan, add hash mixture and cook about 30 minutes, allowing the hash to brown evenly.

The happy homes are making the good citizens of the country.

Physicians Recommend It—Children Ask for It

Medical authorities agree upon at least one thing—that in dairy products is found the best balanced ration for the human body. Nothing that you remove from the table will be more quickly missed and asked for by growing children than butter. Some foods that they should eat may be disagreeable to them, but the growing child who does not crave butter—especially the Red Rose Brand—is an oddity; and the same is true of adults. To build the body tissues, and keep the body in trim, always have Red Rose Brand butter on the table.

Quality is the most important thing in buying groceries, after that comes price. But when comparing further, consider these things:

First—the quality of the goods themselves.

Second—and equal in importance—the quality of the store that sells the goods, are its methods honest, does it stand back of what it says, and will it guarantee its goods?
