ALMOST LOST BIG DISCOVERY

Predatory Bird Carried Off Pod Containing Precious Seed That Produced Burbank Potatoes.

Luther Burbank recently told Colorado potato men a story of his discovery of the world-famous Burbank potato, which has only recently come to light. While Burbank was experimenting with potatoes about twenty years ago he noticed in his patch one plant which held one particularly promising pod of seeds. To his practiced eye these seeds and the plant which bore them would contain the germ of a new and excellent potato. If he had thought it necessary he would have put a watchman over this one small seed ball. As it developed later, the money that would have been required for a watchman would have been but a minute drop of silver in the ocean of gold which this one pod was destined to produce.

Every morning Burbank would go to the patch to see how the pod was faring, and often during each day he would look at the plant to discover the time when the pod could be picked.

One morning he went into the patch and the pod was gone. With the help of workmen he searched for it. Finally, after hunting for hours, 20 feet away from the plant, in the midst of other plants, the pod was found.

"I think a bird must have picked it off and tried to carry it away," Mr. Burbank told the Colorado potato men. "Anyhow, there it lay, and I picked it up and planted the seeds, and that's how we have Burbank potatoes today."

HAD NO ANSWER TO THAT

Georgia Man's Assertion Concerning Watermelons Left Upholder of Indiana Product Gaping.

Harry Grimsley, a Terre Haute Rotary club man, comes from Georgia and is still in love with his native state. He boasts of its wonders, and the last time he discoursed on it, was telling of the wonderful bargains he got in watermelons. "Why, we got the very biggest ones for only five cents," he said.

"But they aren't so big as the ones we have up here," persisted one of his listeners. "Why, out on my farm we had some half as big around as half the top of this table. We didn't eat any of it except the core, and yet the whole family had enough of it and more."

"Down there," drawled Mr. Grimsley in his most southern drawl, "we never eat nearer than two feet of the rind of the melon and yet there's almost more than enough for a family in one melon."—Indianapolis News.

Sacred Mohammedan Rock.
A report on the Dome of the Rock of Jerusalem is shortly to be published and will be of great interest to the Mohammedan world. It may not be generally known that this place is the third in sanctity of all the sanctuaries of Islam, and indeed for a short period it actually formed the Kibla toward which all Moslems prostrated themselves in prayer.

Among the more important religious associations of this rock we may mention it was here that David and Solomon were called to repentance, and on account of a vision David chose this site for his temple. From this same spot Mohammed ascended to the seventh heaven after his night journey from Mecca, and lastly it is to be the scene of the Great Judgment. The historical associations are not less striking and such famous names as Omar, Abdel-Malek, Saladin and Suleiman are all connected with the rock.

Household Hints

Cook enough cereal at one time to last two days. Keep in the ice chest and warm it up as needed. Saves gas.

Boots and shoes that have been wet and dried hard may be softened by applying kerosene very freely.

Wash black stockings in fresh suds and rinse in very blue water.

If you are not fortunate enough to have electricity with which to iron, try marking the irons with the figures 1, 2, 3. You will no longer be confused as to which iron was last used.

Put a couple of raw oysters under the dirt, close to the roots of a fern and the plant will grow like magic.

Use a small paint brush for greasing cake and bread tins and save soiling your fingers.

When pillow slips begin to wear thin in the center, rip the seam at the end and reverse them so that thin part comes on the sides, thereby giving the slips a new lease on life.

When the bottom of a cake is badly burned it may be grated off with a nutmeg grater.
