

ARCADE THEATER WEEKLY PROGRAM

Fri.—"The Highest Law," by Ralph Ince. The story of "The Highest Law" is an original by Lewis Allen Brown and it tells in a most interesting manner the career of an old soldier who fought under Grant. Then follows a series of stirring scenes of the days of '61, when brother fought against brother. Mr. Ince will be seen in his impressive and most realistic impersonation of Abraham Lincoln. A picture fitting for Armistice Day.

Sat.—"Lahoma," an Edgar Lewis production. Cast, Louise Burnham and Jack Perrin. A drama of the early days in Oklahoma, when there was a rush for homes in the early '80s.

Sun.—"The Highest Law," by Ralph Ince. The story of "The Highest Law" is an original by Lewis Allen Brown and it tells in a most interesting manner the career of an old soldier who fought under Grant. Then follows a series of stirring scenes of the days of '61, when brother fought against brother. Mr. Ince will be seen in his impressive and most realistic impersonation of Abraham Lincoln. A picture fitting for Armistice Day.

Tues.—"Salvage," Pauline Frederick and Milton Sills. A powerful story of Mother-love. A woman's journey from depths of despair to heights of happiness.

Wed.—"World and His Wife," featuring Alma Rubins. "The World and his Wife" is an appealing story of modern Spain, full of color and passion.

Thurs.—"The Greatest Love," Vera Gordon, the mother of "Humoresque." A vital glowing drama of life itself told in the universal life of humanity. A great heart-interest picture lavishly staged and superbly acted by a superlative cast.

Comedy, "Those Doggone Kids."

WILLIAM S. HART IN "SAND"

WILLIAM S. HART and MRS. THIRMAN in "SAND" A PARAMOUNT-ARTCRAFT PICTURE

his girl, his horse and his gun

Line 'em up with William S. Hart in a fight against wrong, then thrill while you watch things happen!

This time it's a bandit plot, a railroad holdup, a bit of jealousy, and a false charge that "Bill is 'yellow.'"

ANOTHER DIARY PRODUCED IN THIS SECTION

Hjalmar Rutzebeck Tells of Strange Duel With Crosscut Saw as the Weapon.

Something in the Cottage Grove climate must be conducive to the production of strange diaries. The diary of Opal Whiteley recently set the world by the ears and in the October number of the Wide World appears the story, "A Man's Luck," being the diary of Hjalmar Rutzebeck, who as a "tourist" spent a month in the logging camps at Disston, near which the other diary gained much of its inspiration.

Hjalmar tells of being befriended by a Cottage Grove physician, Dr. Kime, who secured the job in the woods for him. The portion of the diary laid in this section deals almost entirely with a duel in which Hjalmar took part with the head "feller," who is called Fred. "Feller," in this case, refers to a man who falls trees, and not to a companion, for there was no companionship in this case. The weapon used in this strange duel was a crosscut saw, with one man at either end.

The story in this diary is a more than plausible one, with the exception of the statement that the other party to the duel visited the saloons in Cottage Grove. There were no saloons here during the year 1914, when the diary is dated.

Alf. Williams Hurt in Auto Accident.

Row River, Ore., Nov. 9.—(Special to The Sentinel).—Alfred Williams sustained painful injuries Sunday morning when the Ford roadster in which he and Archie Jones were riding became unmanageable and turned turtle near the Wiley Hubbard ranch. It was found necessary to take twelve stitches in Mr. Williams' leg as four of the leaders were severed. It will be a month or six weeks before he is able to resume work. Mr. Jones received a few minor bruises and both were quite badly shaken up. The car was quite badly wrecked.

WANT AD RATES—The minimum price of a wantad is 35c. Three insertions for the price of two. Book-keeping charge of 25c unless paid for in advance.

PLYMOUTH ROCK PULLET PRODUCES LARGE BIDDY BERRY

The annual spring pullet large egg contest for the Cottage Grove section starts with an exhibit from a Plymouth Rock pullet owned by Mrs. Nettie Saling. The egg measures 8 inches by 6 1/2 inches. This Rock evidently tried to set an example that her more favored White Leghorn sister will find it hard to equal. Mrs. Saling gives part of the credit to the fact that she used Sterling feed.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Nov. 8.—Ray Huff was seriously injured a few days ago when thrown from a horse, but is able to be out again.

Bel. Lancaster sold a horse to John Palmer one day last week.

Mrs. J. Crawford has gone to Oak land to visit her parents for a month.

Mrs. Thena Miller and children, Rev. Skelton and Paul Mays were guests at the John Allen home Sunday.

Mrs. H. H. Kibby, Mrs. Eekes, Miss Edith Landwehr and Miss Elizabeth Allen were guests of Mrs. Finley Whippis Sunday.

HEBRON.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Nov. 9.—Miss Lillian Taylor went to Eugene last Thursday on business.

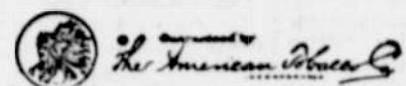

Mrs. Robinson, of Creswell, visited over Thursday night at the F. C. Fuhrer home.

Mr. Hinshaw is building a play shed on the school grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hopman and family and Miss Lela Kelly were Sunday guests at the Finley home on Cedar creek.
