PORTLAND TEACHER TOURS THE STATE

School Board Releases Miss Margaret Reid For Near East Relief.

At the request of Gov. Ben. W. Olcott, honorary chairman Near East Relief, the Portland School Board has given three months leave of absence to Miss Margaret Reid, teacher of history in Jefferson High School, that she might help organize the schools and colleges of Oregon for the Near East Relief. Miss Reid has recently returned from the Near East where for two years she was in charge of an orphanage of three hundred seventy-five children in Homs, and later helped care for 6,000 refugees in Marash.

"For the first time in my experience as a teacher I find my heart is not in teaching," says Miss Reid. "My 'thinks', to use an Armenian expression, are for the kiddies I left in Turkey, so I am glad of the chance to give to the people of Oregon the message given me by the people of Marash as I was leaving there last April.

"You are going back to your home in America. Please carry our love and gratitude to the American people, and tell them to please 'think for us', they said. This is an Armenian idiom for, 'help us'.

"This is the message I bring to the people of Oregon. Your mothers with sweet, wee babies in your arms, 'think for the mothers of Armenia. They came to me on cold and stormy winter days, only last winter; I saw them open their arms to show me a little naked babe lying there and then beg me for a piece of cloth, even a piece of burlap, anything to wrap around the tender little body. Last year I was able to give them a bit of flannel and some little cotton clothes, and I was able to do this simply because the people of America had sent cloth and clothes and money.

"You fathers and mothers of lovely rosy, laughing boys and girls, will you continue to 'think for the pitiful little waifs, driven from home, lost from dearly loved fathers and mothers and brothers and sisters? I wish you all might have the joy I have had, to pick up a thin, starved, sickly, dirty little mite of humanity, hair matted, with awful sores, and with your own hands to wash him and clean him and to feed him and heal him, and in a few weeks to see him changed into a wholesome, happy, normal kiddie.

"The hard part comes when the orphanage is full and the budget exhausted and you have to turn away the starved and desolate boys and girls from the gates. In my own orphanage we never refused admittance to a very little one. We couldn't. We jammed them in some place. But again and again we had to turn away a big boy and sometimes the larger girls, because 'there was no room.'

"America has been generous, Oregon has been generous, but we must continue to think and think hard, for these kiddies if they are to be kept warm and safe and protected and happy through this desperate time ahead."

ANOTHER SWAT FOR THE FLY

Supreme Court of Maine Adds Its Voice to Denunciation of Almost Universal Pest.

The dog having had his day before the Supreme court in Washington, we now find the "busy, curious, thirsty fly" preening his wings in the solemn precincts of the Supreme court of Maine as a co-defendant. He finds few sympathizers. For his size he is the most malodorous and detestable of beasts, and the mischief he does is immeasurable. In this case the court of appeal was told that a summer boarder had engaged rooms at a hotel for two weeks and had left at the end of four days, declaring the flies intolerable. The Supreme court upholds the plaintiff in his refusal to pay for his infested accommodations.

The Journal of the American Medical association makes the case the text of one of the most exhorting denunciations of the fly that have been penned; but will the fly care? Not a bit of it. "A fly," wrote Emerson in his despair, "is as untamable as a hyena." Probably a fly was teasing the sage of Concord as he wrote. The best thing Josh Billings ever said was "D— a fly!" Shakespeare would have said it if he had thought of it. As a carrier of pestilential putrescence the fly is without a peer. The help of the Supreme court of Maine is welcome in putting him down—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ANNUAL ARMAMENT MEETINGS SUGGESTED

President Harding's Idea Generally Approved of By Armament Delegates.

Washington, D. C.—A continuing series of international conferences, the fruition of which may be an "association of nations," has been suggested informally by President Harding to some of the arms delegates and has met with their general approval. The suggestion has by no means reached the point of a definite proposal for such an association, but it was revealed that the president's personal conversations with foreign spokesmen on the subject had greatly increased his hope for a new day in international relationship as a result of the Washington conference.

It was indicated further that as a first step toward world-wide recognition for the conference plan the results of the negotiations here might be submitted for approval not only to the participating nations, but to those not represented here, including Germany and Russia.

So far as the suggestions of Mr. Harding have been made known they contemplate a meeting of nations about the council table once a year to thresh out troublesome questions and devise means for the preservation of peace. It is said to be the hope of the president that in the end all the smaller governments will join with the great powers in whatever discussions may concern them or the world situation generally.

RAILROAD RATE INQUIRY ORDERED

Washington, D. C.—A general investigation to determine whether any further reduction in railroad rates could be required was ordered by the Interstate commerce commission.

The commission announced that the investigation would be begun at a hearing December 14. The investigation is instituted, the commission said, to determine whether and to what extent, if any, further general reductions in the rates, fares and charges of carriers by railroads applicable in interstate or foreign commerce can lawfully be required by order of the commission under section 1 or other provisions of the interstate commerce commission act, upon any commodities or descriptions of traffic.

RHINE FORCES REDUCED

Six Hundred Enlisted Men Leave Coblenz to Sail For Home.

Coblenz.—Reduction in the American expeditionary force along the Rhine began when 11 officers and 600 enlisted men left here on a special train to sail for home on the transport Cantigny. They are due to reach Hoboken about December 7.

In addition to the soldiers there were three nurses, 15 ex-service men and 82 wives of soldiers who were married in Germany.

Most of the men come from the 5th and 15th infantry regiments.

No Dealings With Russian Reds.

Washington, D. C.—The policy of the American government toward soviet Russia, which involves non-recognition of and no dealings with the present regime, remains unchanged, Secretary Hoover stated. The commerce secretary made the statement in commenting on reports from Moscow that the soviet authorities were expecting the consummation of a trade agreement between the United States and Russia.

Seattle Community Chest Is Short.

OREGONIANS IN THE NEAR EAST

W. E. Rambo and Wife Tell of Their War Experiences.

"Aid for the Armenians and other sufferers in the Near East is necessary only because war still rages in the Near East," says W. E. Rambo, who, with Mrs. Rambo has recently returned from Asia Minor.

"When we read of the battles now being fought by Greeks and Turks, we think of burning villages, of fleeing mothers, of crying children, their only place of safety an already overcrowded American orphanage.

"The Rambos were absent from their home in Baker about two years while they were in charge of an orphanage at Haroune near Tarsus, the home of Saul, the great Apostle. The orphanage was under fire for several days and finally Mr. and Mrs. Rambo and the other Americans made their way by night through a storm to the railroad, on which they took their children to Mersine.

"It is a matter of great pride to us that we were able to bring our children through without the loss of a single child," said Mrs. Rambo. "Our kiddies were just as attractive and dear to us as any we have ever seen in this country, except of course our own."

After the Rambo's time of service was up and they were waiting for a ship for America, word came that the war had left thousands of Greeks stranded at Batoum, across the Black Sea. They immediately volunteered for further service and spent weeks in caring for the refugees and loading them on vessels furnished by the Greek Government.

Queen Sophie of Greece, to show her appreciation of the work of the Rambos and others of the Near East Relief workers, recently sent an appreciative letter and also a check for a substantial amount to the Near East Relief.

SCHOOL HELP IS URGED

Commissioner Claxton Hopes Teachers and Children Will Aid Near East

I sincerely hope that teachers and children in the public and private schools of the United States will cooperate heartily and liberally with the Near East Relief in raising funds for food and clothing and care of children and others who have suffered from the ravages of war in the countries of the Near East. To do this will only be doing as we would have others do to us if, like these people, we were reduced to poverty and suffering through no fault of our own but through the ruthless ambitions of others.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) P. P. CLAXTON,
Commissioner of Education,
March 30, 1921. Washington, D. C.

Armenians An Industrious People.

Viscount Bryce of England says "The Armenian people are the most industrious, intelligent and generally progressive element in Western Asia. The destruction of half the nation by the Turks has been a terrible blow to civilization. There are still hundreds of thousands of children suffering, and to save these sufferers would be to render a real service and a permanent service to regions that have long suffered from the blight of a barbarous tyranny."
