This week's top five

1 TOLEDO — Yeah, sure, Paris has a lot of artists. But we're willing to bet that on a per-capita basis, this mill town has the City of Light beat. Discover the allure as the Labor Day Art Walk returns for its 26th year.

See page 14

2 NEWPORT — The woodwork at Café Mundo will be put to the test this Friday as a flamenco fund-raiser puts its stamp of approval on this iconic venue, with proceeds benefiting Samaritan House.

See page 17

3 YACHATS — Labor Day Weekend signals the unofficial end of summer, but the Yachats Ladies Club is determined to send the season off on a sweet note, with a pie and ice cream social set for Saturday.

See page 17

4 NEHALEM — Tide pools get all the press, but there's plenty going on just under the surface of the sand, too. Find out what as coastal ecologist Stewart Schultz presents "The Natural History of Northwest Beaches."

See page 6

5 GLENEDEN BEACH — Can't strike the right balance between "utter apathy" and "absolute panic" in your emergency preparations? Let geologist Sheila Alfson set you on the right track with facts about the Great Subduction Earthquake we all know is coming.
