Broadening our horizons

Here at TODAY Towers, our map of the world normally stops at Yachats, with nothing to the south but a scrawled warning of “Here be Dragons.” But this week, we are looking beyond our normal horizons to bring you news of Live Culture Coast — a 10-day celebration of the natural world, artistic endeavor and the glorious arts of fermentation.

With some 90 stops from Reedsport all the way south to Brookings, the festival highlights the importance of place and how it affects everything from the songs we sing to the art we create to the beer we brew.

Events like coffee-roasting demonstrations and wine tastings share a packed schedule with painting workshops, live music and outdoor activities, giving all participants the chance to build their own itinerary.

And Oregon Coast TODAY is proud to be providing one of the activities that helps tie the festival together, the first in our new series of Cache the Coast geocaching contests. With caches hidden at some 35 of the festival stops, the contest encourages visitors to plan their own route and get in the running for great prizes.

Stay tuned for details of our second Cache the Coast event, coming to the Central Coast in April 2020.

For full details of Live Culture Coast, see the story on pages 10 and 11, or go to www.liveculturecoast.org.
