This week's top five

1 LINCOLN CITY — Haunting voices will fill the auditorium of the Lincoln City Cultural Center this Veterans Day, Monday, Nov. 11 as Portland's Cappella Romana presents Alexander Kastalsky's "Requiem: Memory Eternal to the Fallen Heroes."

See page 16

2 YACHATS — If you want less haunting and more flaunting, check out the old-country rhythms on offer in Yachats as it presents a three-day festival of Celtic music and dance, with a dram of two of whisky thrown in for good measure.

See page 17

3 NEWPORT — If ever an event were worth a flutter it is surely the Nye Beach Banner Auction, where banners decorated by area artists go under the hammer to raise funds for art education.

See page 10

4 NEHALEM — This weekend is the last chance to see the Riverbend Players' production of "Moon Over Buffalo," following two faded actors as they chase one last crack at the limelight.

See coast calendar, pages 12 & 13

5 PACIFIC CITY — If thinking about the challenges of climate change puts you in need of a stiff drink, this Wednesday's Science Pub is the perfect opportunity to pair environmental stewardship with a craft beer.
