This week's top five

1 LINCOLN CITY — Ready or knot, here it comes. Artistry in Wood returns to Chinook Winds Casino Resort this weekend, promising a polished lineup some of the finest wood creations you ever saw.

2 NEWPORT — Felix Mendelssohn knew how to write for the violin and Anthea Kreston sure knows how to play one. Together, they share top billing for this weekend's concerts from Newport Symphony Orchestra at the Ocean.

3 OTIS — If you dream of spending the rainy season holed up in an isolated cabin, working on a creative masterpiece; make time for the Sitka Center's latest show and tell, featuring four new residents who are doing just that.

4 LINCOLN CITY — There's a big Martin Luther King Jr. Day concert coming. And that's not a rumor. In fact, you can take it as Gospel. Put your hands together for Eugene's Inspirational Sounds Gospel Choir.

5 NEWPORT — Sometimes, you see a fish that's so darn handsome you just want to slather it in ink and make a print to remember it by. Before you reach for the inkwell, take time for a class from gytaku master Bruce Koike.
