

Rhythm action using ball skills offered in class

Music, playground balls, and a classroom of girls constitute the new form of Swedish gymnastics that Miss Joan Egbers' second and seventh period freshman gym classes has begun.

The form of gymnastics originated in Sweden and has become more and more popular with school gymnastics courses, according to Miss Egbers.

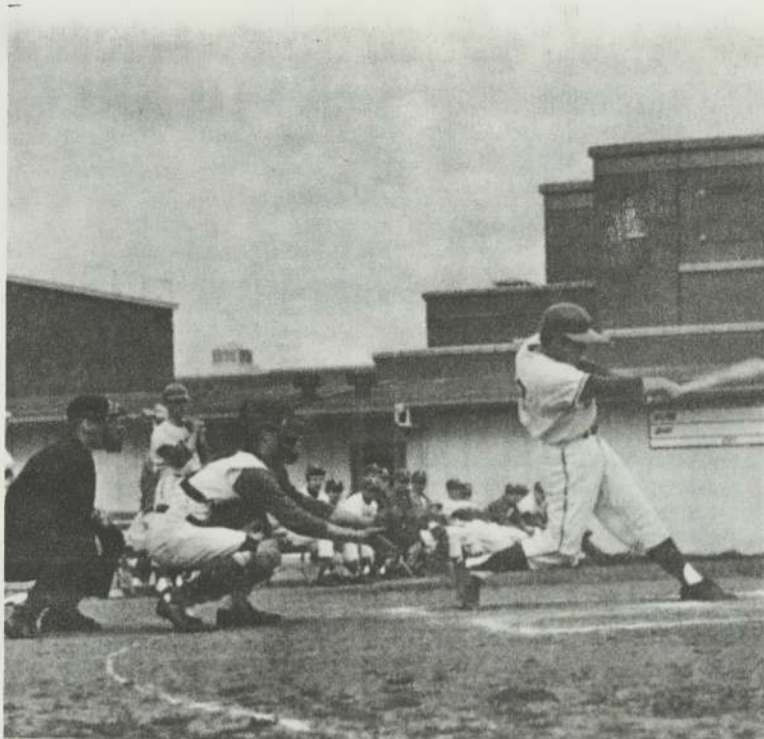

Borrowing the rhythm balls from Jefferson the girls' P.E. classes are planning to present a demonstration in the gym show which is to be May 5-6.

Movements are made usually in unison and in time to music with each girl using either one or two balls. The movement of the ball is often used to accentuate the movement of the body, and therefore the rhythm ball is frequently used in modern dance moves.

Tentatively Miss Egbers has set up the demonstration to include from 24-32 girls and hopes to use both classes, one on the first night and the other on the second night.

Having only 3 weeks left until the gym show, Miss Egbers is in charge of making up the routine and seeing that the girls learn it for the performance, which will be done in unison movement to music.

"The rhythm ball routines are being used experimentally and groups of girls in the classes have been figuring out and experimenting with their own routines," stated Miss Egbers.

LEAGUE LEADING HITTER Mike Balkovich unloads his first of 3 base hits in leading the Generals to an 11-1 victory over Jackson.

Baseball team to host Madison in city league action next week

by Mike Hoffman

After dropping 2 of the first 6 city league games, the top-rated varsity baseball team fell to second place behind Benson and Marshall high schools.

Next week the Generals will host Madison, upset winners in their first meeting, 4-2. Mike Balkovich banged out 3 hits to lead all hitters.

Washington fell 7-0 in the first half and will invade the Generals' diamond Tuesday. Bruce Fraser fired a 1 hitter, and Tim Prah, Mike Hoffman, and Balkovich all collected 2 hits in an 11-hit onslaught.

Traveling to Jefferson, the Generals will try to make it 2 in a row after a 7-4 first half win. Sophomore Greg Walsh got the win and John Pachot socked a homer in leading the victory.

Franklin will be another home opponent, and the Generals downed the Quakers 3-0 in their previous meeting. Steve Turner tossed the shutout and John Pachot led the hitting with two hits, including his second triple of the year.

After the first 6 games the Generals had six .300 hitters, led by Mike Balkovich. John Pachot, Mike Hoffman, Tim Prah, Gary Johnson, and Mark Carpenter were all above .300.

Varsity trackmen to face Marshall in all city league competition tonight

Meeting Marshall tonight on Marshall's track field, the Generals will face tough competition in this dual city track meet, according to Coach Mark Cotton.

Competition opens for varsity golfers

Although practice has been scarce due to inclement weather, the boys and girls golf teams have opened league competition under the supervision of Coach Vern Lowery.

"If we play up to our capabilities we'll be in the top 3," ventured Coach Lowery who says he's "usually pessimistic". More playing rights plus $100 paid green fees will allow more golfers to play.

Leading the boys' team are Gary Stroud, Carsten Museaus, Bill Smead, freshman Tim Myers, Kurt Heinze, Bob Jonas, Jeff Womack and Bob Cameron.

Coach Lowery termed the girls' positions as "hotly contested", but as of now the top 10 girls are Jacque Hodges, sophomores Patty Jensen, Nancy Bottler and Barbara Leonard. Others include Judy Pierson, Marilyn Leonard, Mary Martin, Jan Schollian, Katy Libke, and Nancy Martin.

More teams than ever before will compete this year, 12 in the boys' division and 9 in the girls'. Matches will take place at Rose City, Eastmoreland and the new Progress golf course.

Madison appears to be the strongest boys' team and will probably repeat as champion, but will be pushed by Benson, Lincoln and the Generals.

Eastmoreland will host a match between Jeff and the Generals today at 3:30.

"For several years Marshall has been a tough school to beat but this year will be the toughest of all. The meet could be decided by just 1 or 2 points," stated Coach Cotton.

Early in the track season both the Oregonian and the Journal picked Marshall to beat the blue and gray in the dual city meet.

The team will have tough competition in distances, the pole vault and high jump. Both the 1 mile and 2 mile races will also be hard but important events.

According to Coach Cotton both the shot put and the discus will be the key events in the meet.

"Although Marshall has never defeated the Generals they will be our toughest team this year because they have several of last year's team-mates handed down this year," stated the coach.

In other recent track events the Generals have done well. In the "A" discus and javelin meet, Walt Erikson took a second in the javelin throw and Jim Houghton placed third in the discus.

Relays held last Friday at Madison gave the Generals their first poor showing as they lost the meet to Marshall.
