

Assistant-treasurer's job sought by junior students

Susan Pendergrass

Why are you running for this particular office?

A member of the Grant Student Council is one of great pride and honor. In running for assistant treasurer I feel that I could contribute some new ideas, and would be eager and willing to participate fully in all the responsibilities of the assistant treasurer.—Susan Pendergrass

I am running for the office of assistant treasurer because I think it would be a good opportunity to work for the student body. I am interested in learning more about leadership and I think the experience of being an assistant treasurer would be beneficial.—Marianne Peel

Showing pride in my school goes much further than attending football games, participating as Senior Choir treasurer and General Council member, and being active in forensics. From these things I have benefited. Now I feel it is time for me to do something for the rest of the student body.—Robert LeMarte

League post attracts girls

The success of Girls' league lies in the participation of each and every girl. To get the girls' interest, new, creative and varied activities must be offered. Meetings and activities should be well publicized, both in the announcements and on the bulletin board. Most important, girls must be made aware of the existence of Girls' league and the role it plays in their lives.—Sandi Gassner

I feel the best way to interest girls is to spread the idea of how much fun Girls' league really is. As GL president, I would be responsible for organizing fun projects and activities that would give every girl a chance to participate and become involved.—Karen Stone

I hope to find interesting as well as worthwhile projects for projects that will include all girls. And I hope all girls will give Girls' league a chance to bring these projects to Grant girls. I hope to bring it to girls by girls coming to Girls' league.—Joan La Due

Student body secretary candidates outline qualifications needed for job

What are your qualifications for this office?

—Alice Rooney

Past experience in an outside youth organization for a year as secretary and the present Spanish National Honor society secretary are my chief qualifications. More important, though, a student body secretary should have an outstanding sense of organization and the ability to cooperate with other people.—Karen Richey

An interest in student government and a desire to work in it are my major qualifications. I have worked with Girls' league as class secretary and have held offices in interest clubs. I have learned to work, and cooperate with others and would bring ideas and activities to the council.—Olga Honchariw

My chief qualification is my present position as General Council secretary. This office has duties similar to those of student body secretary. I have also held various other offices in school interest clubs. My experience in holding these offices has developed my sense of responsibility, organization, and leader-

I have the ability and experience to serve Grant as student body secretary. I have held the office of secretary of the Junior Choir. I also have been secretary of Clefs, a club of senior choir members, and can type up to fifty words a minute. If elected I will work hard to help make the remaining year a success.—Molly Harris

Service representative tasks outlined

Vicki Brocksen

Ken Kuzmaak

What are the duties of this office? How will you fulfill them?

The duties of the service representative include taking charge of the announcement board in center hall, the calendar in the activities office, and the cafeteria. If I were service rep, I would keep the announcement board and calendar up to date and take charge of programs to keep the cafeteria clean.—Vicki Brocksen

Of the nebulous jobs of service representative, the most imperative duties include maintaining the announcement board and activities calendar. He is also responsible for the necessity of cleaning Grant's campus of unsightly litter. Other than these tasks, I hope to become valuable, and erudite in Executive Council affairs.—Ken Kuzmaak

The service rep duties are to be in charge of Fire Squad. And, to take care of the trophy cases to see that they are dust-free. One week could be designated as a Service week with a campaign against litter which would offer each student a chance to demonstrate school pride.—Jean Yakymi

Hopeful athletic representatives outline important duties of job

What do you consider the most important task of the athletic representative?

events of our athletes. Getting the student body actively interested in all sports and go to the games and matches. Because, after all, athletics should never end in only athletic participation.—Barry Emard

The athletic representative's job, as I see it, is probably the least important Executive Council job. I think the importance of the office is that of holding a seat on Executive Council and having a say in the student affairs at Grant, as I feel there are many improvements to be made.—Francis Kessler

It is the representative's duty to bring to the Student Body's attention notable happenings in the sports at Grant.—Mike Dunn

To bring to the student body

The most important task of athletic rep is informing the student body what is going on in all levels of sports from frosh to varsity. By informing the student body I would do it by announcing in assemblies, and putting events that we are doing in sports in the announcements. I feel the past athletic reps have not informed the student body about sports that were going on sufficiently.—Leonard Balk
