Japanese displays exhibited in Salem

Miss Mary Jane Terry and six of her students were the guests of State Senator Al Flegel, Thursday. The students, Cheryl Hansen, Karen MacLeod, Ewald Rodewald, Glenn Ross, Toby Mullen, and Stanley Cage III, were invited to hang their art works in the Senate Office Building.

Included in the display are paper fish floating in "the sea of air," a big stick centerpiece with origami birds, and Japanese painted posters. These are works were previously on display in the library.

Miss Terry explained that she "wanted the students to watch the Senate in action, while I set up the displays."

Bob Elliot and Mrs. Connie McCready, both Grant graduates, and their staffs joined Senator Flegel, Miss Terry, the students, and Lloyd Kinsey, a teacher from Alameda.

Miss Terry explained that not only was it "an honor for the students to hang their works of art in the office building, but it also gave them an opportunity to see the workings of state government."

'Time of Your Life' chosen as theme for Annual Spring Show seen in May

by Joyce DeMonnin

The names of Little Boy Blue and many of his friends will be heard quite frequently as the annual Spring Show, to be presented on May 9-10, takes you through the "seven stages of man."

"TIME OF YOUR LIFE," the theme for the Spring Show, will help illustrate the seven stages of man's life: Infancy, Childhood, Adolescence, Oration, Middle Age, Old Age, and Death.

The freshman and junior choirs will each have a scene, as will the ensembles, "so that each ensemble will get to take part," explained Janet Howland, choir

Art staff for 1969-70 selected; Perkins, Dutchuk co-chairmen

Cyndee Wolfe, Adrian Kalil, Denise Lasley, Sherrie Wolf, Carol Carlson, Lou Stein, and Laurie Tuttle have been named as the new art staff for the 1969-70 school year. Alicia Perkins and Carol Dutchuck, art staff "returnees," will be art staff co-chairmen.

Applicants for art staff were required to assemble a "portfolio" in which were included examples of the applicant's talent. According to Mahlon Read, art teacher and art staff advisor, "The present art staff members checked the portfolios and chose the new members, and then I had the 'veto' power over their choices."

Announced on Tuesday, the new staffers' names were put on display after school in the art staff room window.

When asked how she felt about being selected, Lou Stein exclaimed, "Eeee! I've never been so happy in my whole life! If at first you don't succeed, try, try again—which I did."

'Law Day, USA'

Attorney aids annual observance

As a part of the annual observance of "Law Day, USA," Attorney James Damis will speak to members of the social studies classes Friday.

According to Mr. Damis, the purpose of Law Day is "to make people think about and appreciate the rights and duties they have under a government by laws, rather than by men—where they would be ruled by the whim of a king or dictator."

Law Day, which is actually May 1, was established by the American Bar Association as a response to the Russian May Day celebration, which commemorates the beginning and growth of international Communism.

The Oregon Bar Association is responsible for appointing lawyers to visit high schools throughout the state on this day. These visits are conducted through discussions of the Bill of Rights, rather than just a straight lecture by a lawyer.

director. Uncomplicated scenery will be used, and "the members of the department will probably make the scenery themselves."

JULIE LIND, a member of the Choralettes, stated that she "believed there will be a good turnout. There usually always is. Even though there are many times during the weeks before the show that we get scared that things won't turn out right, the problems always seem to work themselves out with little help."

Julie finished by saying, "It is well worth the time and effort put into it. Everything works out because it is a joint effort and everyone helps."

Fifty-five applications were turned in, but only 14 replacements were needed. "This made it a very selective group," commented Mrs. Mary Bray, Gendrills advisor. Mrs. Bray explained that the line captains taught a dance to the applicants during the "Gendrill school" on April 18, and then eliminations were held from 3:00-7:00 p.m. on April 25.

Mrs. Bray added that Mrs. Diane Bigbee is choreographer for the group, and that next year, "the new Gendrills advisor will be Miss Pam Raschio," who teaches Latin.

Spring carnival proceeds to sponsor AFS students

Tonight's the night! "It's going to be the biggest blast we've ever seen!" declared George Galati. Tonight from 3:00 - 10:00 p.m. will be the annual Spring Carnival. "We have something of real class for all concerned," Mr. Galati continued.

THE CARNIVAL is held to sponsor an American Field Service student to come here for a year of study from a foreign country. "This year we hope to get more money than in past years because there was no carnival last year," stated Terri Jones, student body vice-president. She went on to say that this year's carnival is going to be the "best one yet."

Clubs will be sponsoring booths ranging from a flower shop, sponsored by the Girls' League, to a moon shot, sponsored by the Russian Club.

A COLORING contest will be held for grade school children and a prize will be awarded to the top artist in each grade.

A DANCE will be held in the old gym from 9:00-11:00 p.m. Music will be provided by Mr. Lucky and the Gamblers, who are donating their services.

The executive council is responsible for the carnival. They are setting up all the publicity, booths, planning, construction, public relations, and finance. The food is also under the care of executive council. Admission is free and scrip will be sold for 10 cents.

Generals capture third High-Q title, stay undefeated

"The High-Q game against St. Helens High, situated on the beautiful Columbia River in St. Helens, was won by the defending champs," team captain Larry Wheeler said enthusiastically.

The Generals won their third straight victory and, for doing so, received a 20-volume set of encyclopedias, "contrary to Mr. Padrow's statement that we had won a 20-volume set if dictionaries," Larry stated.

Each team member was responsible for capturing several toss-ups, and consequently earned the bonus points. Larry and Margaret Fraser captured the most points—three toss-ups each.

"The whole team was so sharp that I really can't say anything about any one person in particular," Larry commented. "Margaret was really tremendous, but Evan Whipple and Steve Reinsch were also great."

The third victory for the Generals was their last. According to the rules of High-Q, no one school can appear more than three consecutive times.
