

briefs

Photo by Brian Snook

Local nutria attracts photographer's eye again as he seems to be attempting to read sign posted in front of dogwood tree.

Extra hiring policies set

A new procedure relating to filling extra-activity/extra-curricular assignments at the College has been implemented by the Clackamas Community College Board of Education, according to Dr. John Hakanson, College president.

Extra-activity / extra-curricular assignments include part-time appointments of athletic directors; coaches and assistant coaches; directors of drama, jazz ensemble, swing choir, pep band, speech and intramural sports; and sports trainers.

Opening of these positions, as they arise, will be brought to the public's attention through advertising.

"In the past, we didn't advertise these positions," said Jim Painter, personnel officer.

position and we are not hiring as a combined position.

"But if that person should like to apply for the extra-activity position, the candidate will be considered," he said. "Individuals from the existing staff may also be considered for the appointment if they desire."

"This is not to be confused with overload, which is an extra class being taught by an already full-time instructor."

A notice to all applicants will be included with all job opening

TV/radio news

A professional journalist crosses the fine line from the "real world" to that of education to teach a new course offered in the journalism curriculum winter term.

Larry Sturholm, Portland broadcaster, journalist and novelist, is teaching J 131 Introduction to Broadcast Journalism from 7 to 10 p.m. Thursday in Trailer C1. The class is drawing students from the journalism, speech communications and video technology areas who have an interest in the electronic media.

Students in the class will be hearing from several guest speakers as well as gathering news each week to produce their own news program which will be videotaped on campus for viewing and critiquing, Sturholm said.

Cheryl Beshears, editor-in-chief of the Tigard Times, a twice-weekly suburban newspaper, will be teaching J 211 Introduction to Mass Communications spring term. The course will offer lectures, discussions and research on print and electronic media, its history, libel, ethics, theories of the press and the effects of mass media on today's society.

It was attempted to offer the class this term, but not enough students registered. The course will be offered at a different time spring term.

Police jobs

Representatives from the Bureau of Emergency Communications will be on campus Wednesday, Jan. 11, from 2 to 4 p.m. to talk to any interested students about being trained and working as a police communications operator.

Day, swing and graveyard shifts are available at $4.36 per hour during the six-month training period. The wage then rises to $5.90 per hour.

For more information, visit room 103 at the Placement Center in the Community Center.

Single parents

"Living with Your Baby" is a new evening class being offered by the College beginning Monday, Jan. 9.

The course has been designed mainly for expectant mothers and mothers whose children are 18 months old and younger.

"The class will be informal," said Susan Aronson, pediatric nurse practitioner, and instructor of the course. The course will cover the responsibilities necessary for the upbringing of the newborn child, how they grow and learn, safety, toys and playtime, discipline and spoiling, and sickness.

Films, slides, filmstrips, and pamphlets will be part of the course and will be used for the benefit of the parents, said Aronson.

All people interested are invited to attend the class which will be held Monday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m., room 252 in Barlow Hall. The course is a two-credit course and will cost $24.00.

Ms. Aronson expressed concern for more students to enroll in her class. "There are presently nine people enrolled in the class, and in order for the class to remain, we need at least a total of 12-15 people," she said.

"Single Parent Experience" is another evening course being offered this term.

This class is for couples divorced or separated, who are experiencing difficulties with their families.

The class will explore alternative parental life styles, rewards and problems of child rearing, role clarification and development of new relationships.

Instructors will be Kay Curry and Fred Swan of the Marylhurst Children Service Division.

It is a three-credit course which will be held Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. at West Linn High School.

For more information on both these courses, contact the Placement Center, Clackamas Community College's home economics department, 656-2631, ext. 286.

Building trades

Revised Building Codes, including Trades Drawing and Building Trades Print Reading are evening courses offered this term.

Revised Building Codes have been designed for contractors, builders, inspectors and those working with building codes. The class will review Uniform Building Codes that become effective Jan. 1.

This class will be taught Monday days from 7 to 10 p.m. beginning Jan. 3. Class will be held in Barlow Hall, room 254.

Building Trades Drawing will teach skill development in drawing and preparing building plans.

This course will be taught Monday and Wednesday at the College in Barlow Hall, room 254; and Thursday at West Linn High School. Monday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Building Trades Print Reading will teach the student how to read plans.

This course will be taught Monday days at the College in Barlow Hall, room 254 and Thursday at West Linn High School. Monday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Community courses

Nearly 500 courses will be offered by the College Community Education department for winter term.

Solar heating, cross country skiing, silk-screening, karate, and land plays and international dancing, are just a few of the many courses being held throughout Clackamas County.

These courses will be held at homes, schools, churches and businesses in North Clackamas School district, Gladstone, Oregon; West Linn, Colton, Molalla, Clatskanie, Estacada and Wilsonville.

Classes commence Jan. 9 and the College's credit classes begin Jan. 3.

Schedules are available from the community school office throughout the county or from the College.

For information about community school programs or certificates for winter quarter classes, call 656-2631.

Local NORML club attempts Oregon statute amendment

The general goal of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) is trying to "work towards the total removal of all penalties for possession and cultivation of marijuana for personal use," said Mike McCarty, Associated Student Government president and president of the NORML chapter on campus.

The NORML club at the College is taking action along that line.

"We are trying to further amend Oregon statutes and trying to make our laws even more specific," McCarty said.

Currently in Oregon, the possession of one ounce of marijuana is a misdemeanor offense and cultivating or buying marijuana is a felony offense, according to McCarty.

A petition will be circulated in Oregon within a couple of weeks, McCarty said.

The petition will ask that the current laws be amended to reduce manufacturing, transporting, furnishing less than one ounce of marijuana, or cultivating 10 plants, from Class B felony to a violation, subject to a $10 maximum fine, McCarty said.

Violation penalty for possession of less than one ounce and maintaining a place where less than one ounce is found would be reduced releases explaining extra assignments over and above the regular duties which are filled by qualified full-time staff members on an extra - pay basis, according to Hakanson.

"In the future, we will make the candidates aware that there are extra-activity / extra-curricular positions available," Painter said. "We are not advertising as a combined

"We hope to entice qualified persons by advertising these extra assignment openings," Painter said. "It's tough to find a part-time coach when all you're going to pay them is about $1,700 a year."

from a $100 to $10 maximum fine.

The amendment also would abolish the offense of frequenting or remaining at a place where marijuana is found. Persons subject to marijuana violation arrest would be cited and not taken into custody.

Oregon was the first state to enact the $100 penalty for possession of less than one ounce of marijuana.

"It's like the carrot in front of the horse cliché -- they let us possess marijuana, but they make cultivation and buying marijuana a felony," McCarty said.

classifieds

help wanted

THE SUMMER JOB BOOKLET with opportunities in the Federal Government is now available in the Placement Center. The booklet contains listings of clerical, administrative aide, science aides, forestry aides and various other positions that sometimes requires as little as a high school diploma or six months experience in a related field.

The weekly pay ranges from $119.60 to $171.19. The filing deadline on most positions is Feb. 1 through March 15. For more information contact the Placement Center, Community Center Building, ext. 213.

TYPIST WANTED: Excellent typist needed for part-time work typesetting copy for The Print, the campus weekly newspaper. Work would involve 10-12 hours per week on Monday evening and/or Tuesday afternoon and evening. 60 to 70 wpm. Someone dependable to last through spring term needed. Contact Randy Clark, Trailer B, ext. 259.

STEREO CAMPUS REP WANTED!! Hungry entrepreneurial type needed to sell name brand hi-fi, car stereo, TV, etc., to friends and faculty. Tremendous earning potential. Send for application by mailing this ad to: MUSIC/SOUND DIST., DEPT. C-178, 6730 Santa Barbara Ct., Baltimore, Md. 21227.

for sale

STEREO DISCOUNTERS: Our name tells the story! Save $$ on Marantz, Pioneer, Sansui, Kenwood, BIC and 75 more brands. Send for our FREE catalogue, STEREO DISCOUNTERS, Dept. C-178, 6730 Santa Barbara Ct., Baltimore, Md. 21227

FOR SALE: '68 Chevy Impala, 2-door, $500. Call weekends or after 5 p.m. weekdays, 655-0462.

rides

NEED A RIDE to CCC from Molalla? I arrive at the college around 8 a.m. and leave about 4 p.m. If you are interested in sharing a ride and expenses, call Happie at 829-2815 or ext. 259.

