

Cinderwomentake Regionals and want Nationals

After winning both the State and Regional titles the women's track team is looking forward to winning the National championships. The meet is in Champaign, Ill. and will be held this Friday and Saturday.

The women set six Regional meet records last weekend at Pendleton and qualified in eleven positions for Nationals plus qualifying relay teams.

The leader in new meet records was Regina Jordan. Jordan took the 200-meter competition with a 25.4 and the 100 meters with a 12.32. Raela Rodgers was second to her in both races with times of 25.7 and 12.34, respectively.

In first day competition five women qualified for the Illinois meet. Amanda Eggleston took the 400-meter field with a 59.25 while Lisa O'Dea scored the other first of the day in the long jump. Her mark was a 17-4 1/2.

Jean Sandwick qualified with a 10:40.8 as did Vickey Paddock with her 10:47.2 3,000-meter race. Angella Cotton was the final qualifier in the 800 meters with a 4:51.2. Verna Simon took third in the long jump but her mark of 16-9 1/2 was not high enough to meet the National standard.

The 800 medley-relay team of Rodgers, Jordan, Eggleston, and O'Dea established a new meet record of 1:50.1. The same team members also took the meet record with a 48.9 in the 400-meter relay. And, yet another record toppled with Eggleston, Cotton, Barbara Young, and O'Dea pacing to a 3:59.6 in the 1600-meter relay.

O'Dea continued her large point contribution with a meet record in the 400-intermediate hurdles. O'Dea ran a 1:01.7 with Young right behind her 1:05.9. Both qualified for Nationals in that event.

Sally Arthur was the Clackamas runner in the meters but she too qualified Nationals. Arthur ran a 2:10 to qualify.

Baseballers finish disappointing season

By Jim McCaffrey

All is quiet in Cougarville for the baseball heroes have struck out. Last Friday the Clackamas Cougar baseball season came to a fitting and frustrating close on a cold, rainy Concordia Lutheran College field.

The afternoon was an exercise in frustration that seemed to mirror the whole season. Clackamas came into the games shooting at a chance for fourth or fifth place in the league standings.

Clackamas turned in a wretched performance combined with uninspired late inning offense and were slaughtered 15-6.

Some fine individual performances were turned in by team members.

All purpose utility infielder Ron Northcutt collected 10 hits in his last 13 times at bat. This included two singles and a double in the early inning rally that gave six runs to the Cougars against Concordia.

Pitcher Bob Simril's record was 5-0 with an earned run average of under 2.00. Bob was pitched in relief again last Friday for the fifth time in the last seven ballgames.

Jim Coffman for the second time in two outings was plagued by errors and his own walks. John Kline managed to rip his way out of a season-long slump with two hits to add to Northcutt's.

The second game was forfeited to the Cougars because of rain. It seemed like the appropriate way to end the season because so much of the season was played in bad weather conditions.

The team finished with a 15-12 record and has eleven potential returnees.

sports notes

The College men's tennis team advanced to the Regional tournament this past weekend by finishing third in the state tournament at Pendleton on Saturday.

Chemeketa took first with 100 points, Central Oregon Community College was second with 79 and Clackamas was the last qualifier with 73 points.

Individually, John Delaney defeated the Cougars defending state champion, Mike Maynard, 6-4, 6-0 for the first singles championship.

For the number three position, Chris DeVilo, Chemeketa, defeated Clackamas's Buddy Patnode, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

In doubles action, the Cougars number one team of Maynard and Patnode captured the state crown as they defeated Mayall and Delaney, Central Oregon, 4-6, 6-2, 7-6.

Cougar Rick Bobzein also turned in a fine tournament as he defeated Rod Quinn, 6-7, 6-2, 6-2, for third place in second singles play.

In addition, John Stilwell, Umpqua, defeated Dave Riggs, Clackamas for third place in the fourth singles bracket.

The third place finish enables Clackamas to take part in the Regional meet. North Idaho, Treasure Valley, Umpqua, Judson Baptist and Southwest Oregon Community College competed there last Sunday through Tuesday at Pendleton.

The top three teams qualify for the National tournament and if the first singles or first doubles winners are not among those first three teams, they also qualify.

The men's track team will be sending participants to the National meet in Champaign, Ill. next Friday and Saturday. The team took fourth overall in the Regional championships held last weekend.

Kelly Britz set a new meet record in his specialty, the 800-meters with a 1:51.6 while teammate Dave Rudishauser placed third with a 1:53.8.

Randy Bolliger also took a first in his event, the shot put. Bolliger, last year's high school state champ, put the shot 51-3 with Dan Jackson fifth with a 46-1 1/4 heave.

The only other first place was by school record-holder Dave Reed. Reed beat Lane's Mike Yeoman, this year's state champion, with a 46-9 1/2 mark.

Joe Jones competed in four events but placed only in the 100 meters. Jones was second with an 11.4.

Dan Jackson took second in the discus with a 153-4 behind new meet record-holder Clayton Sexton of Ricks Community College.

Mike Murphy in the javelin with a 192-7, Dave Grosnickle with a 13 foot pole vault, Don Brown's 4:04.2 1500 effort, and Doug Oberst's 15:57.5 in the 5,000 meters. Ed McAllister managed sixth in the 400-intermediate hurdles with a 58.9.

The College is going to sponsor their first international wrestling trip next week. Cougar wrestlers Tim Jones and Tom Gilbo, along with National high school wrestling champion from Molalla High School, Randy Ohta, are traveling to Venezuela to take part in the Pan-American Games.

The wrestlers leave on May 24 and travel to the University of Louisiana for a week of training before traveling to Caracas for the start of the games.

Once there they will compete with teams from South and Central America, and Mexico in a Olympic-type format. Winners receive gold, silver and bronze medals.

Jones, the Cougars top middle-weight man, took fourth in the Nation while compiling a 30-3 record.

Gilbo, had only a 15-8 season and didn't qualify for the National tournament. He was, however, one of the few wrestlers in his weight class who was under 20 years of age.

Ohta, although still attending high school, was sponsored by the College's wrestling club and Molalla High school's Jaycees. It was felt that because he was the National High School champion in the light-weight class and the state triple crown champion, (Greco-Roman, Free-style in addition to state crown) he should be sent.

The trip marks the third time Clackamas has sent wrestlers to a national competition, (Tim Johnson, the Cougars two-time national champion took part in the east-west competition, and John Olson, Clackamas national Champion in 1976, competed in the Olympic trials) but it was the first in international competition.

Norm Berney has been named as the new head wrestling coach at Clackamas. Berney coached previously at the school but quit because the time and effort involved was too great.

Going into the 1977-78 season, the Cougars had won eight consecutive state crowns and had not lost a dual meet to an Oregon Community College.

Both records fell during the year as the Cougars finished fourth in the state meet, with 167 pounder Tim Jones claiming the only individual state crown.

Berney replaces Rich Taylor, who will retain his other coaching duties. Larry Owens will be retained as Berney's assistant.

Becoming a member of a college rally squad isn't all it seems to be. Sure, there are the thrills and popularity that comes with the honor, but there is also a lot of hard work and high expectations involved.

To be a rally member, a person needs to be a full-time student; maintain a 2.0 grade average; have a sincere interest in the respective sport; be able to supply half-time entertainment at the games, if possible; be available to spend five hours each week on routines; and be willing to help make and post spirit posters advertising games.

The Associated Student Government will award a one-half tuition waiver to rally members who complete their season in good standing. Good standing includes attendance at games, publicity of the sport, and maintenance of a certain number of hours.

"There's a lot of work and high expectations involved, but that's the way it has to be in order for things to go well," former basketball rally member Tammy Ruef said.

"But, you also get the half tuition waiver, and most of the things, such as meals, traveling expenses, and uniforms free," Ruef said. "Besides, it's also a lot of fun."

A singles tennis tournament will be played at the college this Friday through Sunday.

The tournament begins 6:30 p.m. on Friday, starts on 1 p.m. on Saturday, and again Sunday, if necessary.

The tournament format will be a double-elimination with single-elimination for the championship bracket.

Men's and women's competition will include novice high school, 18-29, 30-39 and 40-and-over divisions.

Those interested in participating must pre-register at the College recreation office, 656 2631, ext. 232, before noon on Friday.

A $1 fee and one can of new tennis balls are required for play. Trophies will be awarded to the champions in each division.

The Lower Columbia Invitational was The College's final golf competition before the regional tournament. It wasn't too encouraging.

Clackamas took a last place with 497 while the preceding scores were Bellevue 440; Clark, 441; Mt. Hood 457; Everett, 461; Olympia 478; and Lower Columbia 487.

Jim Hudson regards the regionals as a question mark. "We'll see how we do up at Tokatee," Hudson said.

There were co-medalists in the tourney, Chris Reynolds of Clark and Russ Patterson of Bellevue tied with scores of 108 for the 27 holes.

"There was going to be a playoff between these two, but we left before anything was decided," Hudson said.

For Clackamas, Curt Adamski had a 117; Tom Tirrill had 118; Eric Moller had 130; and Pat Oden finished with 132.
