SUMMER WORK

Several weeks ago the Associated Student Government at the college initiated a program of suggestion boxes to aid in the search for student input. These suggestion boxes, placed in the community center and Ball Hall received student input encompassing a wide range of subjects concerning the campus. The following suggestions have been given to ASG to evaluate and solve. Some of the problems presented by the suggestions have already been solved by ASG.

- Why don't you get Pat Hackett to come play with his friends and their guitars? The band would know how to get in touch with him. He is good.
- Why don't you get one of the disc jockeys from one of the radio stations to play some good music for a dance? I think it would really have fun. You would need more advertising for the dance. Lots of people don't know about the Big Band and other dances. What young people would want to go to a Band Ball, it's not of their time?
- Do not play "bubble gum rock" on the radio in the Community Center. Turn the stereo to KGON, KVAN, or KINK.
- Why don't you get the swing choir or chorus to sing in the cafeteria during lunch? They were good last time.
- Is there some other way that the cafeteria could display the prices of food? Strange signs and odd posters make it hard to read the prices. Trying to find the price or a selection while standing along the counter blocks traffic.
- The Rex Putnam Kingsman Chorales, a vocal jazz ensemble, recently placed second in the Reno International Jazz Festival. I would like to have them invited to sing at lunch time in the community center. Their director is Karl Moltman of Rex Putnam.
- Why doesn't the book store display the prices in the candy store so you don't have to ask?
- The bookstore consistently acts as a self-serving enterprise. Why can't we have a student book exchange and recycle more books?
- Text books-one half price to all students or three-quarters of each term. Rest defrayed by the budget. Allowance for so much off on certain textbooks. Example--drafting, (machinist machine handbook, $28, student cost $20).
- Why can't there be chairs near the front door, near the bus stop, for people who need to wait for a bus?
- I suggest that they get more parking in the Community Center parking lot. I feel that it is the main parking lot and there is inadequate parking.
- Put a phone inside McLoughlin, upstairs. Also soft drink machines.
- Would it be possible to have the Today sheet relabeled tomorrow and state what will happen the day before it happens?
- I think you should have the game room open longer and more often. This place is very boring. No girls and no game room.
- Could all paper towel containers in the restrooms be lowered to the height of the containers for the handicapped so that, when we wash our hands, the water doesn't run down to our elbows before we get them dried?
- The type of fold-up seats in the choir room makes it impossible to sing in an upright position necessary for proper voice support.
- Enforce pass/no pass grading in foreign language departments. I am going to PSU for my Spanish due to this policy at CCC. All first and second year courses are P/NP at PSU. I know of others that have been messed up by this. Why should CCC penalize a student's GPA for a course not in his/her major?
- As is evident, student apathy is at an all time high. If more of the government officers and senators would mingle with the student body, and not within themselves, part of the problem might be solved. I realize that, in order to make government work, we must donate much of our time to your government duties and responsibilities and this means spending a lot of your time with your counterparts. But this viewing gives the student body the idea of a "clique" or "group". In order to inform students of the student government it is necessary to be on a personal level with many of the student body. Then you can tell them, personally, and invite them, personally, to involve themselves with the activities. This produces a sort of a "Domino Effect" in that the students will inform others, and so on and so on.
- The recent plant sale over at Clairmont wasn't worth the gas to get over there. I'd suggest a bigger selection and more plants for a better organization of cash handling.
- A little less token communication and a bit more action.

For example, two year wait for a no-smoking area (in the cafeteria). It finally arrives as ineffective five-table area four-feet from smokers, which is readily encroached upon. Reason given, administration not sympathetic. If the administration were always sympathetic there would be no need for "student government." You are our link-you are in that position to push student rights, you are our organized legislative force.

The suggestion boxes are meant to aid the students of the College. The boxes will assist ASG in determining problems in the school that must be solved and provide a model for ASG next year.

ASG greatly appreciates the suggestions presented thus far. Anyone wishing to comment further on these topics, or new ones, is urged to use the suggestion boxes, or contact ASG President Mike McCarty.

Applications available

Applications are now being taken for the Associated Student Government offices of publicity director, student activities director and assistant to the president.
