Weatherstrip

"Weatherstripping Homes" will be the topic of three Saturday workshops offered by the College beginning Oct. 14 at 8 a.m.

The workshops are designed for contractors, home remodelers and residential repairpersons. Information on tools and equipment, installation of weatherstrip on various kinds of doors and other weatherstripping information will be provided by Richard Stevens of R.C. Construction Company.

Tuition is $15 and $2 lab fee also will be charged.

Information about the workshop is available from the college by calling 656-2631, ext. 233.

The class will meet in the College pole building near the Smucker's complex on Beaver Creek Road.

Patchwork

The College home economics department is currently offering a three week one credit course titled Patchwork and Applique.

The course involves instruction in color design, color schemes for patchwork and templates for the designs. Students will learn how to create and assemble designs and apply this into clothing, decorating and other subject matter.

Instructor for the course will be Terrie Krug who taught handwork crafts in Riverside, Calif.

"Patchwork and Applique" is the first course of this type to be held during the day at the College. For students who may have a conflicting schedule, but who are interested, can attend the class for any part of the three hours.

For further information or details check the College registration department or call Eleanor Stubbs, College Home Economics chairperson, at ext. 336.

Measure 6

The possible impact Ballot Measure 6 may have on Oregon will be reviewed in three video tape replays of the August Oregon Legislative Information Hearings.

The Ledding Library of Milwaukie will sponsor the video showings, including an Oct. 16 screening in the College Community Center beginning at 9 p.m.

The tapes will be shown at the Ledding Library, 10660 S.E. 21st, Milwaukie, beginning at 5:30 p.m. on Oct. 17 and Oct. 18.

The tapes were prepared by the Oregon Legislative Assembly Media Service and are being distributed by the Oregon State Library. Printed programs, charts and graphs will be available at all three showings.

More information about the video tape programs may be obtained from Marilyn Thompson, Milwaukie librarian, at 659-3911.

Philosophers

Two professors of philosophy will share their ideas with students in the course, "The Philosophy of Man," this quarter.

Professor William A. Rottschaefer of Lewis and Clark College will be a guest lecturer Oct. 13 and Professor Thompson Faller of the University of Portland will speak on Oct. 23.

Mayo Roy, philosophy instructor here, said the two guest lectures are open to all members of the College community.

Both lectures will take place in Barlow 151 at 10 a.m., and will follow a class discussion format.

Rottschaefer, who specializes in the philosophy of science and religion, will discuss, "Philosophy: What is it?", during his Oct. 13 visit.

Faller's topic will be, "Aquinas and His Philosophy," on Oct. 23. Faller has published a book on philosophy and medicine, and specializes in the study of ethics.

Roy said openings remain in the Philosophy of Man, PHL 223, class.

Public forum

A public forum on Measures 6 and 11 will take place Oct. 11, 7 p.m., CC-117. Wendell Halseth, chairman of Oregon Tax limitation committee and State Rep. Ed Lindquist will speak in support of 6 and 11. Frank Harlow, speech instructor, will moderate the discussion. There is no charge for this community services event.

Cadet program

Walt Wagner, district trainer for the State Police, will be on campus Oct. 16 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. in room Community Center 103.

Wagner will discuss summer employment with the State Police Park/Game Cadet program. He will answer questions, interview interested students, provide information and applications. No appointment is necessary.

Starting pay for the Cadet program is $852 per month. Persons attending will not be obligated to the program. For additional information attend meeting or call Waganer at 238-8434.

Dance classes

Two dance classes, taught by Bev Harris, are offered this term in tap and disco at the College in Randall Hall, room 11.

Tap dance classes meet Wednesday, 6 p.m., and will include jazz dance instruction. Cost is $20 per term.

Disco classes will be offered either Mondays or Wednesdays at 3:30 p.m. with a cost of $2 per session.

Interested persons can sign up in Randall Hall, room 11 or on a sign up sheet in the Community Center near Student Activities office.

For more information, contact Brenda Lowrie, ext. 324 or 325.

Urgent donors

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the College Oct. 23 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Community Center Mall.

Although many donors in the community responded to an acute blood shortage last week, the serious shortage still remains, according to Maureen Yandle, American Red Cross director of public relations.

Blood donated during the past week was used to partly replenish severely depleted supplies in hospitals throughout Oregon and Southern Washington.

Added to the continued seriousness of the situation have been recent, unexpected large-volume needs of patients with gastrointestinal bleeding and emergency open heart surgery, according to Yandle.

To re-establish a stable, adequate blood supply, donations from persons of all blood types are needed, but especially o-group donors, Yandle said.

Student grants available

Misconceptions about the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) are common among College students, according to Dick Thompson, College financial aid officer.

Thompson believes there is a basic lack of knowledge, or confusion of the facts, resulting in many eligible students doing without needed funds.

"A large amount of students won't apply for the Basic Grant, because of a preconceived idea that they don't qualify," he said. "It is worth the investment of a 15 cent stamp and a little time. The student will lose nothing, and at best receives a $938 gift."

Many advantages make it worth the gamble, Thompson said. Recipients are chosen strictly on the grounds of financial status. Martial status is not considered and the staff doesn't check academic history.

BEOG's cover the entire school year. If found eligible, some or all previous expenses are reimbursed. The number of grants is unlimited; if a student meets the eligibility requirements, he is guaranteed aid. The maximum grant is $938 ranging down to $176.

Students who have questions, or are confused by the BEOG computer writing back to them, should refer to Ron Hoodye, Dick Thompson, or peer counselor Pat Fontaine at the Financial Aid department.
