

briefs

Mens' seminar

"Understanding the Handicapped" will be the topic of a seminar at the College's Community Center, room 101, Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m.

Jesse Kapel, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, will discuss how the handicapped and those who work with them can make "realistic approaches to making vocational choices and developing positive self concepts", according to James Houser, assistant coordinator of the College's Men's Resource Program.

The seminar is sponsored by the Men's Resource Program. The cost is $2 and pre-registration is encouraged. Persons may register by contacting the College's counseling department, 656-2631, ext. 266.

Dairy contest

The College dairy judging team placed first at the Cal Poly Junior College Dairy Judging Contest in San Luis Obispo, Ca., Nov. 16-18.

The contest featured six of the top two-year colleges on the West Coast.

The College team was composed of: Gary Hansen, Molalla; Hardy Dimick, Canby; Gretchen Wilhelm, West Linn; Cindy Steele, Roseburg; and Frank Kraaz, Roseburg. The team was coached by Dan Lowrie, Clackamas County Extension Agent.

The dairy judging team previously place third at the California State at Chico contest and second at the Portland International Livestock Exposition.

Those persons interested in competing on the team next year should contact one of the agriculture instructors at the College.

Shoplift seminar

A seminar on Shoplifting Prevention will be offered for Molalla area businessmen and their employees, Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 7 p.m. in Molalla High School.

Merchants in the area will have the opportunity to learn about prevention techniques from Clackamas County Deputy Sheriff Art LeTourneau and to have their questions answered. The seminar will last three hours.

The seminar is sponsored by the Clackamas County Sheriff's Crime Prevention Office, Molalla Police Department, College and the Molalla Community School Office.

Registration cost for the seminar is $2. For more information contact the College Employee and Management Development Office, 656-2631, ext. 233.

Cycle safety

A two-weekend Motorcycle Rider Safety Course will begin Saturday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the College.

The 24 hours of instruction will continue Sunday, and Dec. 8 and 9. All four days comprise one course.

Motorcycles are provided, along with helmets, eye protection, textbooks, handout material, films and other teaching aids. The fee is $75.

The course is open to anyone, with or without a driver's license. Those under 18 will need written parental consent.

The non-profit school is approved by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation.

For more information, call instructor Sandra Galloway, 658-3485.

Gym open

The College's Randall Hall gym and athletic facilities will be available to the public for Sunday recreation starting this Sunday.

The College's Sunday Recreation program will run during the first three Sundays in December and then resume on Jan. 6, and continue through March 9.

There is no charge for the use of facilities. The schedule is: volleyball and badminton from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.; basketball, wrestling and tumbling from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.; weight room from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

For more information about community recreation opportunities at the College, call ext. 211.

Center blooms

"It looks pretty rough around here," said Norm Bursheim of the surroundings of the Art Center Building. The Kiwanis Club was invited over to take a look and they agreed with Bursheim. The club decided to donate $300 of the department to help beautify the surroundings of the building.

They will first landscape around the building then decorate the area with flowers, shrubs, and other ingredients to make the Arts Center Building sparkle.

"They (the Kiwanis Club) looked at both the inside and the outside of the building and wanted the outside to look as nice as the inside," said Bursheim.

Speech team loses but has a good time

Traveling to Linfield College for their latest tournament, the College Speech Team placed a dismal 16th out of 17 junior and four-year colleges throughout the Oregon territory and from as far away as Los Angeles.

In the tournament, which ironically took place Nov. 16th and 17th, Bernice Lee was the only speaker from the College to break into finals, taking second place in oratory.

"Our debators could have made finals, but they had a few rotten judges, so they didn't make it," said Coach Frank Harlow.

The only team Clackamas beat was Western Washington University. "They're a rough college," smiled Harlow.

"All in all, we did pretty bad," summed up Harlow of the trip to McMinnville, "but we had a great time."

The team hopes to do better at its next tournament Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at Lower Columbia College.

IN MILWAUKIE
IT'S

Sweet
Williams

FLOWERS & GIFTS

WEDDINGS
SPECIAL OCCASIONS
FUNERALS

DRY AND FRESH FLOWERS
"Your taste and Our Quality say it all!"

659-3424

3650 S.E. CONCORD
MILWAUKIE

Oh Thank Heaven For

OPEN
24 HOURS

7 Days
a Week

—HOT COFFEE—
—FRESH PASTRY—

SANDWICH OF THE MONTH

EGG HAMLETTE

79¢ Reg. 99¢

FOUNTAIN
DRINKS

IMPORT
BEERS

7TH & WASHINGTON

OREGON CITY
657-4861

JOHN'S

Auto Electric Service & Supply

COMPLETE AUTO REPAIR

- VW Specialist
- Tune-up & DEQ
- Complete electrical repair
- Carburetors

812 Molalla Ave.
Oregon City

656-3633

classifieds

For Sale

Mahogany cabinet stereo-radio for sale. Good working condition. Page 12

Good cabinet. Make offer 266-3571 (Canby).

lost & found

LOST: Olympus OM-1 black body camera with 50 mm lens. Also has a black leather case and brown, white and orange mosaic strap. Last seen in the Fireside Lounge approximately 12:30 p.m. Monday. A reward of $50 is offered for safe return. No questions asked. Please contact Elena Vancil, ext. 309/310 or 631-2311.

Clackamas Community College

