Kids learn movie-making Efforts featured on TV-8

By Linda Cabrera

Remember the last time you took a sneak preview of your old home movies?

Were they blurry jumpy and were you somewhat undecided on which blur was you and which was your baby sister?

Well, who says movies have to be left up to the pros? Since when have mom and dad been considered pros (just because they have a few years on you)?

No more! Not since Ron Oberg and Steve Johnson have decided to teach a class called, "Film Making For Kids." The course is now into its final weeks and is designed to guide the student in the art and practice of SUPER 8 home movie production.

"I'd just got 'fired up' from a class I took at Portland State, said Oberg.

"Ron came to me with the idea, and I had had a little experience in a film class before, so we thought we'd try it with children," said Johnson, video technician for the college.

Some fifteen kids are presently enrolled in this four week course. It is held every Saturday, 1:30-3:30 p.m.

All students were supplied with two rolls of film each, and instructed on how to use their cameras and projectors. If the student didn't have equipment, the College provided it. They were shown how to take care of the equipment properly, types of film to use, shooting and lighting techniques, and even how to use a tri-pod.

With all the basics out of the way, the kids made up story boards planned layout of what the movie was to be about, and how to arrange it. Then they took off for their "set" and began filming.

They're now in the process of cutting and splicing and making all necessary preparations to get the movies ready for an official presentation on Saturday. All the students will present their finished productions to a live audience of parents and anybody else interested. The student judged to have the best 8 mm movie production will appear on Channel 8 "Just Kidding Around." All participants will receive certificates.

"I figure the best way to learn about anything is to teach it. We are fortunate to have a pretty good group of kids," says Oberg.

Job Center Offers help To seniors

Clackamas county has an employment program for older citizens called "The Senior Job Center." It's based here in the RSVP trailer and its job is to help promote the hiring of seniors for temporary or part-time work.

Formerly called "Rent-a-Grandparent," the SJC changed the name in hopes that it would spark more people to hire seniors, and to clear up some confusion about the service.

In the past it was thought that only grandparents could be hired, and only for babysitting. It is hoped that the new name will open up more job opportunities and give a better picture of what the SJC is all about. For more information contact Susan Hill or Shirley Oxley at ext. 397 or 522.

Take Five for Your Future.

Back in 1968 a lot of political activists and young voters refused to vote rather than support Hubert Humphrey. That omission helped elect Richard Nixon, just as surely as if they had voted for him.

We can not afford to make the same mistake in 1980.

In all the nation there are only three states where you can register to vote from now through election day. This is one of the three states in which the law was designed to give people like us a chance to make our opinions count. Now it's up to us to take advantage of it.

The margin between President Carter and Ronald Reagan is whicker thin. Voters aged 18 to 25 have the opportunity to deliver the electoral votes of Maine, Oregon and Wisconsin to Jimmy Carter. The three states control 21 electoral votes, the same number as one of the big, "super-states." This is our chance to unite and

You may register and vote if you are a U.S. citizen, age 18 by election day, and an Oregon resident since Oct. 15. Register at County Election Board, 8th and Main, Oregon City, (503) 655-8551; 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. M-F and all day Election Day. You must vote at your precinct polling place. Register Early!

speaking up to shape our future. We can choose four years of keeping peace, protecting the environment and putting America back to work, or we can choose the alternative: Ronald Reagan.

It takes just a few minutes to register and vote, but the decision we make will last four long years. Remember that on November 4th.

Remember the record of Ronald Reagan. Remember the lesson of 1968.

Most importantly, remember to register and vote. It's your future.
