

Christian fellowship provides encouragement

By Steve Lee

The purpose of C.C.F. is to provide Christian fellowship on campus. "It's a place where Christians can refuel, so to speak, and be encouraged by one another and God's Word," said group leader Don Megrath.

C.C.F. meets every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at noon.

The Tuesday meeting, in Randall 101, is the biggest of the three and has about 30 people. During this meetin, students have time to talk, sing and generally have a good time getting to know one another. Every other week, they try to have a speaker come in and talk on a subject relevant to campus life.

On Wednesdays, in CC-116, the C.C.F. gets together for a Bible study. The group leader guides the students through a passage, but participation is encouraged. After a passage is read, the students have an "around the room" discussion, each in turn relating how he/she can apply its context to his/her life.

Thursday brings another Bible study in Tr. F-2.

As it stands now the Wednesday group is too large for the small-group style of study it was designed for, and will soon have to split to keep the atmosphere the same. The Thursday study is also expected to divide soon.

As for group activities, the C.C.F. had a volleyball/potluck combination last month, and is planning to have an innertube/pizza snow day on Nov. 22. A potluck and carolling party are planned for Dec. 20.

The focus of the Bible study this term is discipleship. In other words, how to teach others about Christ and the Bible.

Megrath said, "Whatever the group does, we want to glorify Christ. Without Christ, we have no reason for meeting." For more information, call 656-4496 and ask for Don, or 656-9864 and ask for Laura.

Big Band Ball bopping success

"A smashing success" is the way one guest described the sixth annual Big Band Ball. Held in the Community Center last Saturday, the dinner and dance recreated the mood of the big band era.

LeRoy Anderson's "Rhythm

Section" played hits by big name entertainers such as Benny Goodman ("Don't Be That Way"), Duke Ellington ("Don't Get Around Much Anymore") and Glenn Miller ("String of Pearls").
