To whom it might concern! South American needs a lady like you because as a person and friend you're a unique human being, I do care for you and feel very fond of your personality sense of humor and deep concern about others Happy Valentines day Would like to meet you and be your best friend.

To a tall enough, strong, blond, blue-eyed man. Do you need a Valentine? I do. From Vasharnan.

To the man with the hat and my heart, so far away. I wonder if you still think of me, if you remember the taste of our kisses, And the feel of our bodies entwined deep in love. The fire that burned in our eyes when we looked at each other, The whispered voices, saying "I love you." Valentine's day is a time for remembering, a time for love. I remember you today, and send you a wish for much happiness, joy and love, forever. I hope you might remember me too. And maybe send me a wish (how about a postcard?) The happiest of Valentine's Days, and all my love, From the girl who will always love you, and never forget.

To R.I.—You've become a good friend to me, your personality has often picked me up from the downers. Keep on being bright, honest, caring. It truly becomes you--Love The Turkey.

To the Bug who loves to Dance--The times we've had, the companionship we've shared are very special and dear to me, just as are you. Stay the sweet special person you are. Happy Valentine's Day Love Mr. C.

To: Nikes are better--How would you know anyway, your no pro athlete. I mean I made you what you are, I gave you the meager greatness you now possess, I picked you up out of the dregs and the slums and set you on your way, and what do I get? A great friendship, but NO MONEY, Boy I'll tell ya...Signed Borg Pro.

To my hon--Five years of experience in a year in a hall, some in pain, most in smiles, all of them most certainly worthwhile. When we needed each other we were there, and in that time found the love we share Love Hon Bun.
