

Sports

Cleve Nyberg edges past Lewis and Clark scoring to aid the Cougar's in a recent 4-0 victory.

Szanto predicts encore

By Wanda Percival
Of the Print

Clackamas Community College soccer blasted Lewis and Clark College 4-0 last week.

Coach Janos Szanto, a former member of the Hungarian National soccer team, expects another blow-out season for the state champions. "I'm sure we're not going to lose any games this year," he said. "I was trained to win and that's how I operate."

Five booters have returned to the CCC squad, contributing to what Szanto believes will be another successful season. "I'm very confident that we're going to keep our title," he said.

Returning is team captain

Jim Keogh who has been a "big help in conducting practices and keeping the team together," Szanto noted.

Center forward Cleve Nyberg, mid-fielder Mark Bigson, half-back Tom Welle, and Jeff Johnson have also returned.

Szanto noted Johnson has had a good start this season with an average scoring record of two goals a game. "He scored three goals against Lewis and Clark last year in finals," Szanto added.

Johnson didn't let up against Lewis and Clark last week as he kept his record of two goals. Goals were also scored by Mark Gibson and Jim Keogh.

"It was a really good game," Szanto said. "They're a good, strong team, although we're still not settled down. The score was 0-0 at half time and has been in every game so far. It takes time to settle down and relax."

While the Cougar's have a young team this year, Szanto said they were all well-trained previously and that with the "right attitude", they have the potential to be first class players.

The Cougar's defeated Reed College in a pre-season game, 5-1. Their next game is Sat. at Portland State University at 2 p.m.

Women's cross country hopeful

Although the women's cross country team consists of only six women, Coach Marilyn Linsenmeyer feels confident that her team will place in the top three at state competition.

With only one returning runner this year, the team is starting out young. Linsenmeyer noted they have done well in their first two meets, but it's still too early to judge their performance.

Alice Hungar, a graduate of Oregon City High School has dominated the number one position, while Anna Museus from California is in the second slot. Although, Linsenmeyer said, "second, third, and fourth positions could be challenged at any time." The women are all close in their times, so that makes workouts easier to do as a team.

The team started working out in July, so they've already had three months of training. Although the team is working out hard now, their main goal is to do well in track.

Therefore, the workouts are not meant to make the women peak during cross country season, rather during the track season. Linsenmeyer isn't worried about her team peaking out early. She said, "if they follow the workouts I've designed for them, they'll do okay."

Wednesday, Sept. 30, the team participated in the KEX, Fastbreak Trailblazer run in Downtown Portland. "The women get along great together and are looking forward to having a prosperous season," said Linsenmeyer.

Wednesday Oct. 7, 1981

Sports Classified

To Stephen King fans: Have "Cujo", call the campus you picked up his latest ext. 309,310. For I'm will-venture into the realm of ing to sell the hardback for horror yet? Well, before you only $7. It's in perfect slap down the $13.95 for shape. Call after 1:00 and the hardback version of ask for Thomas Rhodes.

Sports writers needed for "The Print". If interested, please contact Wanda, ext. 309 or stop by Trailer B.

PHOTO SPECIAL!

2nd Set of Color Prints

FREE!

When you have your 110, 126 or 135 color print film (C41 compatible) developed and printed at our regular low price—3x size Code #125

LIMITED TIME OFFER

Offer good Oct. 7-20

at the

Call 657-8400
ext. 248

C.C.C. BOOK
STORE

