Clackamas Community College Wednesday, May 12, 1982

TRI-MET BUS SCHOOL arrived on campus to teach riders about the new fire system last Wednesday and Thursday. The bus was specially designed for demonstrations and display.

Staff photo by Duane Hiersche

Tuition raise to take effect summer term

By Darla Weinberger Of The Print

Tuition for full-time students will be increased to $180 for in-state students, and $660 for out-of-state students starting summer term 1982.

starting summer term 1982.

"It's actually a very slight increase," College President John Hakanson said. The increase is less than 6 percent of the present $170 tuition a term, he commented.

For in-state part-time students, tuition will be $18 a credit hour, raised $1 from present tuition. Out-of-state tuition will be raised to $66 a credit hour, an increase of $4.

"We lost money from the state," Hakanson said explaining the increase. "We're not going to collect as much property taxes as we expected."

going to collect as interi property taxes as we expected,"

At Portland Community College, tuition is $19.25 per credit hour; $173.25 a term for full-time students. Mt. Hood Community College costs
$19.50 per credit hour or $195
a term for full-timers. There is a $44 minimum for part-time students.

According to the minutes from the College's Board, dean of student services Jim Roberts said the increase places the college in the middle of tuition ranges in the metropolitan area.

The decision to increase tuition was made at the April 21 Board meeting. After the College examined this year's revenue, the decision was taken to the Associated Student Government. Upon their approval, it was taken to the Board for final approval.

Board for final approval.

"The College's money has been cut back by the state for three years now," Hakanson said. The tuition increase will generate $96,950 in revenue

Speech team nationals

overlooked

The College's Speech team competed at Nationals on April 6-12, in Bloomington, Minn. Teresa Svatos took second place in the expository category and a third in persuasive speech. Edward Coyne also took a third place, in the extemporaneous category.

extemporaneous category.

The Print regrets that the speech team competition was overlooked.

Nastari in for Crosby

ASG undergoes changing of guard

By J. Dana Haynes Of The Print

Last week's Associated Student Government meeting was the site for the passing of the gavel from this year's President, Sam Crosby, to next year's, Paul Nastari.

The 1982-83 executive cabinet was also sworn in at the Thursday meeting. Nastari, along with Vice-president Jay Schaller, Activities Director Steve Vohs, Assistant to the President Emma Nelson and Administrative Assistant Tracey Johnston, swore to uphold the constitution of the ASG. Effective immediately, Nastari will chair the weekly ASG meetings.

As his first official act, Vice-President Schaller moved, and the voting body approved, to make the retiring officers voting senators for the remainder of the term.

In other business, Dennis Donin of the American Red Cross announced that there will be a blood drive at the College on Tuesday, May 18.

The last blood drive netted Red Cross 114 units (pints) of blood. That put the College second in units accrued, behind Mt. Hood Community College. Like last time, the blood drive will be held in the Community Center, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Donin said the goal is 120 units.

"We need 457 units per day for the people in hospitals in our area," Donin said. The Portland branch of Red Cross supplies 76 hospitals. The blood taken will be broken down into red blood cells, plasma and platelets.

cells, plasma and platelets.
She said, "If you live to be 72, there's a 95 percent chance that you will need blood at one time or another."

In other ASG business, the voting body passed a motion made by Steve Vohs, this year's business manager and next year's activities director, postponing a decision on the request for money for Diana Scharen, a French major who will study in France Next year.

Scharen presented her request for an unspecified amount at the April 29 ASG meeting. At that time, it was agreed to pass the issue on to the Ways and Means committee. However, Vohs said that the committee has not met as of last Thursday.

Other topics touched upon include:

--The Timber Fest/Hoe Down, which is scheduled for May 22, is proceeding well, Vohs said. Student Activities Director Debbie Baker warned the student government that the Hoe Down has to net a minimum of $3,500, or the annual awards banquet hosted by the ASG may have to be canceled.

--President-elect Nastari presented the results of the recent survey, held in the Community Center. The subject was which radio station should be played in the Center. KGON, a hard rock, FM station, won this survey with thirty votes, Nastari said. The next closest station was KINK, with only five votes. The ASG plans to hold at least one more survey on the subject.

Auschwitz survivor lectures Page 3

Adams discusses makings of commercial art Page 5