

AKE!

lives

of Art-
ser to help
ear's Art-
eld last
he new
ace.
ed 24 area
lay their
three-day
rent types
play.
showing
nd white
, jewelry,
reek and
y, indigo
lian and
, fabric,
etry and
ures were just some of the wares shown.

Not only were visiting artists showing their works but so were the shops of the marketplace. Graphic clocks, gifts, cards and exotic plants and flowers were among the shop's displays.

Entertainers also provided music and visual shows for audiences and shoppers. Paul Zaloon of New York City performed a junk puppet show for the closing of Artquake on Sunday. Folk, jazz, classical, flamenco and country-pop music were also performed.

Staff photos
by
Joel Miller
and
Brett Bigham

