

THE BARCLAY HOUSE, (above) completed in 1850 was the home of Oregon City's first Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Forbes Barclay. It is now the home of the Oregon City Chamber of Commerce.

THE AINSWORTH HOUSE, (above) was built facing away from the road because at the time Captain Ainsworth felt that Oregon City was going to open up in that direction. The house is of Greek Revival and looks very much like a plantation house.

ROSE FARM, (right) the home of the Holmes sports a full ballroom on the entire second floor of the house. Governor Lane, Oregon's first Provincial Governor, gave his inaugural address from the second floor balcony.

Story and Photos by Brett Bigham

THE MCGLOUGHLIN HOUSE, (above) built in 1846 by Oregon City founder Dr. John McLoughlin, was originally built by the Williams family, raised, and its present

Clackamas Community College

Hist

Oregon City is a city of historical artifacts. With it being the first to stand to reason the most historical and Special thanks to the Clackamas County

