

Free medical advice available to registered students

Students at Clackamas Community College can receive free medical help from two adult nurse practitioners and a doctor. Pat Krumm and Erna Lewis will be available for students one day a week, while Dr. Powell will visit the College on Thursdays.

Krumm and Lewis will provide help for students who need physicals, gynecological exams, or for those with sore throats, minor sprains and other medical problems.

According to Krumm and Lewis, adult nurse practitioners have more training and schooling than registered nurses but not as much training as a doctor.

Krumm has been teaching in the nursing department at the College for 11 years. "I feel there is a real need for this program. We are starting with limited utilization, but hopefully we will eventually have more expansion," Krumm said.

Lewis started teaching at the College in 1976 and was on a full contract in 1977. Lewis also works as a nursing instructor.

Suzy Alexander has been the full-time secretary for the Health Services Department and Student Publications for three years. "By having two people to confer with instead on one I feel we can provide better care for the students," Alexander said.

Paula Vincore is the new part-time receptionist/secretary for the health services. She joined the College two weeks ago. Vincore feels the Wellness Resource Center is a great addition to the Health Services Department.

In case of a medical emergency, health services follows specific emergency procedures. Alexander is certified in first aid and CPR.

The Health Services Center is located in trailer A near Randall Hall. The hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Lewis is available Tuesdays from 10 to 12 p.m. and Krumm is available Wednesdays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Dr. Powell is on campus Thursdays from 8 to 10 a.m. Appointments can be made from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
